Tight Secrecy Shrouds Talks On Atom Policy

Truman, Top Security Advisers Plan Future Use of Atomic Energy

WASHINGTON, July 14 (INS).—President Truman tonight conferred with his top security advisors and Congressional leaders at a highly-secret, tight-lipped meeting on plans for the future use of atomic energy.

The President's mystery-filled conference included all members of the National Security Council now in the city. That Council is charged with the national defence.

All those who attended the conference absolutely declined to discuss any phase of the session.

The White House also offered no explanation.

On leaving the top-secret parley, Sen. Tydings (D) M.D., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, told newsmen:

"Boys, you wouldn't print it if you had it, for the good of the country."

He apparently brushed aside rumors that the parley might have dealt with the possibility that Russia is ready to come into a World Agreement on Atomic Energy.

Asked if relations with Russia figured in the Conference, Tydings told reporters:

"I wouldn't think so."

Attending the metting in addition to Tydings were: Secretary of State Acheson, Defence Secretary Johnson, Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Lilienthal, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, who has been acting as presiding officer over the Joint Chief of Staff, House Speaker Rayburn (D) Texas, Sen. Connally (D) Texas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee, Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., Republican Foreign Policy leader and member of the U.S. delegation at World War International Conferences, Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., chariman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee and Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, whose charges of "incredible mismanagement" of the U.S. Atomic Energy program by Lilienthal are currently under investigation by McMahon's committee.

COMPLETE BLACKOUT

It was known the discussion centered on atomic energy but there was a complete "blackout" on what phases were involved.

There were some indications that the President was seeking advice on a new atomic policy toward Russia.

It was recently recalled in Congress that the nation had never been informed on the atomic agreement reached by Mr. Truman, British Prime Minister Attlee and Soviet Generalissimo Stalin at Potsdam in 1945.

There was a strong possibility, too, that the leaders discussed bids by Great Britain and Canada to share in the latest atomic secrets.

It was pointed out that both nations have made plain in recent months that they would like to be full parthers in the use of atomic energy just as they were in the war on Japan.

Some sources believed the discussions dealt solely with future United States steps in the development of atomic energy for use both in war and peace.

Exchange Of Data Said Topic

NEW YORK, July 15 (Friday) (CP). — The New York Herald Tribune says today that President Truman's conference concerned "the advisability of continuing to exchange classified atomic energy data with Britain and Canada."

The newspaper says it learned the conference concerned the areas of atomic-energy development on which the United States still cooperates with Britain and Canada.

"Big Steel" Asks Truman To Modify Board Powers

WASHINGTON, July 14 (INS).—The U.S. Steel Corporation tonight called on President Truman to modify his plan for averting a steel strike by stripping a proposed fact-finding board of the power to make recommendations.

The corporation refused a second time to accept terms of the President's 60-day "cooling off" period proposal, but a "big steel" spokesman said this was not to be construed as an outright rejection.

He declared that the corporation's reply to the President's second appeal for acceptance of his plan still leaves "the door open" for preventing a strike, which the C.I.O. steelworkers' union has set for 12:01 a.m. Saturday.

Under the President's plan, a three-man board would investigate the controversy over a fourth round of wage increases and make recommendations in 45 days.

Benjamin F. Fairless, U.S. Steel president, who telegraphed the request to the President, said that, if there is no national emergency, as the President contends, he could not "see why" a board should be created which would have more power than the Taft-Hartley Act provides.

He said U.S. Steel is "most desirous" of avoiding a strike, has no thought of a "lockout," and "most sincerely" shares the President's concern over the situation.

U.S. Steel and other companies were banking furnaces in preparation for a walkout of 500,000 steel workers.

It was the second time that U.S. Steel had rejected the President's plan. The other two of steel's "big three"—Bethlehem and Republic—are expected to follow suit, along with a majority of the 50-odd small companies.

C.N.R. Trestle Crash Victim

A bulldozer-laden truck last night knocked four huge beams—half of the track supports—from the C.N.R. trestle over Oelmcken Road, closing the right-of-way to trains for an indefinite period.

William Heaney, manager of Heaney's Cartage, said Truck Driver Wilf Rafford, 1203 Blanshard Street, operating a tractor-truck and semi-trailer was waved through by the operator of the "cat."

Apparently, said Mr. Heaney, the operator underestimated the height of the trestle.

A C.N.R. official said the trestle would be in service sometime this morning but at a late hour last night no repair work had been started.

The cab of the truck was dented badly.

Steel Strike Would Close Car Plants

DETROIT, July 14 (INS). — A prolonged steel strike would close down the metal industry's best customer—the automobile plants—by the end of August.

This was shown today in a survey of the automotive industry which now is at an all-time high production peak of around 150,000 passenger cars and trucks weekly. An estimated 800,000 auto workers also would be affected.

At Chicago Inland Steel Company today warned the C.I.O. Steel Workers of America that the union will be held responsible for damages "if a strike is called in violation of contract."

President Clarence B. Randall wired Philip Murray, president of the union, that a strike called before the end of their 60-day extension agreement would result in court action.

City Councillors Favor Reform, Majority Back Manager Plan

A majority of the members of City Council have tastified, in interviews during the past two weeks, to the pressing need for reform in the system of administration at City Hall.

Opinion is strongly in favor of the appointment of a city manager.

Members of the finance committee, however, refused to offer comment while they framed a report on a proposal for appointment of a "city adviser" or co-ordinator," regarded by most aldermen as simply a half-way measure.

HITS PROPOSAL

Strong criticism of such a proposal came from Alderman Waldo Skillings, long an advocate of city manager administration.

"Apparently all are agreed that our present system leaves much to be desired," he declared. "The mayor has experimented with a 'clearance committee.' The finance committee is about to recommend some sort of a 'city adviser' or co-ordinator.' None of these half-baked remedies really get to the root of the trouble."

"I favor a city manager form of municipal government providing we can obtain the right man," continued Alderman Skillings. "By 'right man' I mean one with ability and experience in the field of city management. Such a man should be given a free hand to do his job without interference from aldermen or committees. His actions and decisions should be submitted to council only."

POINTS OUT SNARLS

He asserted a city manager would eliminate many of the pitfalls of the present system "and lead to a sound business administration with a continuous and definite civic policy."

Alderman Aubrey Kent, a consistent and constructive voice for administrative reform at City Hall, submitted a brief to council calling for appointment of a city manager early this year before Alderman Edward Williams, chairman of the finance committee, pushed through his own counter-proposal.

Interviewed this week Alderman Kent pointed out some of the snarls in the present type of administration.

"Our system is not conducive to sound city management where the permanent heads of departments come directly under an alderman," he declared. "As matters stand now the mayor appoints committee chairmen to head departments, and in no case is the chairman, from previous civic experience, qualified to do so. He takes over a department. He has authority to hire, fire, dominate if he wishes, dictate to and generally boss the whole department. I don't say he always does, but he can, and in principle it is not right.

IDEAS AND TALENT

"This state of affairs has convinced me we should have someone — call him a city manager or city administrator — who has complete authority over the City Hall departments and staff, and who is answerable only to the mayor and City Council as a whole," continued Alderman Kent.

Such an executive officer should possess good executive ability and experience in the running of a large organization, "a man with ideas and talent," he stated.

"If he is the right man no salary is too much," he observed.

Alderman Kent said he did not believe the appointment of a "city advisor" or "co-ordinator" would benefit either the city or its taxpayers.

Alderman Frank Mulliner also stood out for appointment of a city manager.

BULLETINS

Star Wins

LOS ANGELES, July 14 (INS). — The schooner Morning Star, scratch boat in the 15th yacht race from San Pedro to Honolulu, crossed the finish line tonight.

The passage was made in ten days, eight hours and seven minutes, breaking a record of 11 days, 14 hours and 46 minutes set by the Mariner in 1923.

Hottest Day

VANCOUVER, July 14 — The hottest day of the year hit Vancouver today as an 81 was recorded at the airport. Previous high was 79 yesterday. Downtown sectors today reported 84 degrees.

Reds in China Open Offensive

CANTON, July 14 (INS).—Five Chinese Communist armies under the so-called "One-Eyed Dragon," Gen. Liu Po-Cheng, began a new southward offensive today, 400 miles north of Canton.

News of the strike across the Kan River near Nancheng was disclosed almost simultaneously with the arrival by plane in Canton, the Nationalist capital, of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to lead a supreme effort to defeat the Communists.

Ten thousand Chinese Communist troops already were reported across the Kan River in the resumed effort to crush the Nationalists, who were driven out of Manchuria's industrial strongholds earlier.

Important Talk Due From Pope

VATICAN CITY, July 14 (Reuters).— Pope Pius may make an important pronouncement when he broadcasts in German on Sunday to the people of Berlin — front-line point of the political battle between Communism and the Western World.

Communist-Ruled Lands May Sever Vatican Ties

VATICAN CITY, July 14 (INS). — A Vatican spokesman said tonight that Communist-ruled lands might sever what's left of diplomatic relations with the Holy See "in reprisal" for the unprecedented Papal excommunication.

The decree automatically excommunicates all Catholics who are Communists or who aid the party.

The congregation of the Holy Office was asked to furnish a list of Communists or Quasi-Communist leaders affected by the decree. It declined and a spokesman said:

MATTER OF CONSCIENCE

"It is a matter of individual conscience and those who are guilty know it. That is all that interests the Church."

A Vatican spokesman said severance of diplomatic ties with the Holy See by Communist governments "will not surprise anyone," and added:

"But in keeping with tradition we will not take the initiative in such a move. The Vatican will not break relations as long as it can assist a single Catholic in the nations involved."

The spokesman quickly explained that relations "already are severed in many lands and only formally exist in others" behind the Iron Curtain.

A priest identified as Abbe Grangier marched in Thursday's Paris Communist demonstration commemorating France's National holiday, Bastille Day.

The marchers carried placards saying "Down with the Atlantic Pact and the Americans who Bloodied the Soil of France."

Industry in Canada Facing Curtailment

U.K. Cuts Dollar Imports

LONDON, July 14 (CP). — Britain today twisted her austerity tourniquet tighter with the announcement that dollar imports—including newsprint, timber, tobacco, and non-ferrous metals—will be cut by one-quarter this year.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer announced the decision in the Commons amid deepening anxiety over Britain's financial and industrial crisis.

He termed the 25 per cent reduction a "thoroughly evil necessity" but lightened the gloomy tone of his speech by reiterating his belief that the solution to economic difficulties ultimately will be found on a world basis.

ABBOTT SILENT

Finance Minister Abbott and other Commonwealth Finance Ministers attending an economic conference here, listened to the statement but Abbott declined comment.

He also declined to comment on the Chancellor's cryptic reference to "a number of short-term measures to improve our financial position, which are at present under discussion with the United States and Canadian Governments."

Sir Stafford stressed, as he did in his first "crisis" speech, that existing trade contracts will not be affected by reduced dollar buying.

Sir Stafford said cuts in sugar purchases mean that the weekly sugar ration will fall August 14 from ten ounces to eight ounces. He estimated the tobacco cut will mean smokers will find about 5 per cent fewer cigars and cigarettes on vendors' shelves. Candy rationing will be reimposed August 14, with a limit of four ounces a week for each person.

Fear Lay-Offs May Develop From U.K. Import Slashes

OTTAWA, July 14 (CP).—An informed official said today that dollar-area import slashes by the United Kingdom may lead to some Canadian industry curtailing activity, possibly engendering a reduction in staff.

He said the industries likely to be affected would be copper, aluminum, pulp and paper and possibly tobacco.

He estimated that on the basis of Sir Stafford Cripps' announcement in London, cutting the United Kingdom's 1949 dollar imports by 25 per cent, Canada would lose between $60,000,000 and $80,000,000 this year.

"If the slashes continue, then next year—1950—will be the critical year," the official said. A continued 25 per cent cut next year in Canadian exports to the United Kingdom would mean a loss of more than $100,000,000.

DIFFICULT PERIOD

While not unexpected here, the United Kingdom's import slashes come at a time when Canada finds herself struggling out of a trade deficit with the United States and searching incessantly for more export markets.

Trade Minister Howe said he wanted a few days to think over the import cuts before commenting.

Rigid controls on United States imports amid tightening foreign markets means for Canada a disappointing delay in her long-range plan towards re-establishment of multilateral trading on a widespread international basis.

More immediately the import cuts announced in London will mean that Canada will have to start a search for untapped markets or else cut down industrial capacity, which had taken root and flourished during the war years.

Sir Stafford, however, has already promised that the import slashes will not affect contracts now completed. These include the $400,000,000 Anglo-Canadian food agreements for 1949-50.

VANCOUVER, July 14 (CP).—A Vancouver newspaper said today that British Columbia's pulp and paper and non-ferrous metal industries will be among the first to feel the effects of Britain's decision to reduce imports from the dollar areas.

Last year Canada shipped $131,000,000 worth of non-ferrous metals and products and $70,000,000 worth of pulp and paper. British Columbia's share in the total, the paper said, was "substantial." Export of British Columbia pulp mills was among the highest in Canada.

The paper added the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company at Trail is the largest single shipper of lead and zinc to the United Kingdom.

Foes of Pact Expelled By C.C.F. Party

WINNIPEG, July 14 (CP). — Two C.C.F. members of the Manitoba Legislature tonight were expelled by their party for publicly-spoken opposition to the North Atlantic Security Pact.

The two, B. R. Richards, member for The Pas, and W. Doneleyko, representing St. Clements, were described in the resolution authorizing their expulsion as having acted with complete disregard of fundamental policies of the C.C.F. and in a way calculated to injure the party.

Decision to expel them came at a closed session at the 14th annual convention of the Manitoba section of the party. Following the meeting a brief statement was issued announcing the expulsion order.

Set Restricted Closure On Most V.I. Forests

A restricted industrial closure was placed on more than half of Vancouver Island forest area effective at midnight tonight on orders from the Department of Lands and Forests.

Under the order all logging, sawmilling and industrial operations are prohibited from 1 p.m. P.D.T. daily and all such industrial concerns operating open burners are required to maintain constant guard on them throughout the 24-hour period.

Roughly, the part of the Island affected by the order is the forest district south of the Alberni Canal on the west coast and south of the Suquash on the east coast.

PART OF MAINLAND

The Mainland coast south of Knight's Inlet has also been closed.

Critical forest fire conditions were given as the reason for the closure but the Forest Service said that unless hazard conditions brightened within the next day or two, the restriction will become general.

Meanwhile anyone in doubt of the area covered by the closure can obtain precise information from the nearest Forest Service officer.

NOT IMPROVING

The general public has been urged to avoid forest travel.

The forest fire situation is not improving. More than 350 men battled 77 forest fires in British Columbia yesterday and the weather forecasters say that the hazard will get worse before it gets better.

The new blazes include seven in the Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island. They are all under control.

ISLAND FIRE "IMPROVED"

The Stoltze Logging Company fire in the Cowichan Lake area was reported "improved" at press time last night and the fire fighting crew has been reduced to the company's force.

One hundred troops were battling a small one-acre fire near Chilliwack yesterday. The blaze was started by explosives during an army practice.

In the Kamloops district, 16 fires are being fought by 30 men and in Nelson 17 small outbreaks are being fought by 80 men.

Two fires in the Prince Rupert district are reported under control.

Transit Strike Hits New York

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP). — C.I.O. transit workers struck suddenly today against all 21 lines of the New York City Omnibus Corporation. The lines carry 925,000 passengers daily.

The walkout was called eight hours after 350 maintenance workers quit in protest against the dismissal of four employees.

Russians Use Charm, Lift "Little Blockade"

BERLIN, July 14 (AP).—The Russians turning on the charm, today lifted their "little blockade" of West Berlin.

The main highway from the Western Allied zones, running from Helmstedt to Berlin, was crowded with Berlin-bound German trucks after five days of Soviet slow-down tactics at the zonal border.

With truck traffic back toward normal, British sources disclosed the first reductions in the Anglo-American airlift fleet. More airlift cutbacks are to be made as trains, trucks and barges boost their supply shipments.

The Russians ended the slowdown blockade, which had cut truck traffic at Helmstedt to four vehicles an hour, as mysteriously as they started it—without any official explanation.

Like capitalistic go-getters selling service with a smile, they went all out today to speed truck shipments through the Helmstedt checkpoint.

They kept nine other border crossing points closed to Berlin-bound truck cargoes. But they cleared trucks faster than one a minute at Helmstedt and wiped out a jam that reached 550 vehicles yesterday.

In Berlin, Lt.-Gen. G. S. Lukyanchenko, chief of the Soviet military governor's staff, jovially appeared at a French military review celebrating Bastille Day. He was the highest ranking officer present.

The United States Air Force has not yet followed the British authorities in reducing its section of the Berlin airlift. American four-engined C-54 transports accounted for 80 per cent of the 8,759 tons of coal and food flown here in the last 24 hours.

But it is no secret that the Americans also expect to skeletonize their airlift operations by Winter, if Berlin's land and water routes stay open.

Appointment of City Manager Wins Favor Among Aldermen

"While it is a fact that the vast majority of towns that have adopted the city manager schemes consist of places with 20,000 population or less, I am quite convinced that we should have an official with full authority so that there will be more co-ordination," he declared.

Alderman Mullmer said he preferred the title city administrator to city manager, but he insisted that such an official should direct all city business, leaving only matters of policy to City Council.

A veteran member of council, Alderman Duncan McTavish said his experience had taught him that the operation of the civic corporation was "big business" and should be directed along business lines.

NEED "MANAGER"

"We should have what could be called a general manager who would be responsible to the property owners," he asserted.

Alderman McTavish stated that he had made this observation without the benefit of access to details on the council-manager system of administration.

He also stated a belief that the success of the council-manager system would depend to a very great extent on the personality of the man employed as city manager.

"He would have to be big enough to run a big business," he declared. "He would have to be completely above approach."

MUST HAVE POWER

Alderman John Baxter, who possesses many years of experience in the municipal field, asserted that he would support a move to appoint a city manager, providing council "will give him the power to do a good job."

If council will not grant a city manager sufficient power, it would only be appointing another city official, he argued.

He declared a city manager must also be allowed time enough to prove himself in office.

Alderman Charles Banfield disclosed that he had studied the city manager type of civic administration very closely.

"I think that there is no better plan that we could devise for efficiency than the city manager plan," he stated. "A complete survey should be made at City Hall with a view to appointment of a manager. I don't think we will have an improved municipal situation until we have a city manager appointed. Some change must be made."

NO LONG CONTRACT

He said he felt that the city could obtain the services of a qualified city manager without the necessity of tying itself down to a long-term contract.

"We could get rid of him too if he is not the right man for the city," he added.

Efficient administration of the corporation's business was seen by Alderman Banfield as a big step in the direction of amalgamation of surrounding municipalities with the city. He believed the city manager and amalgamation proposals go hand in hand."

Members of the finance committee include Aldermen Williams, Harold Diggon, Dr. J. D. Hunter and Mayor George. Rather than "go over the head" of the committee chairman, it is believed some members are withholding comment at present.

Petty Car Thief Picked Wrong Car

CHICAGO, July 14 (INS).—Someone who broke into a parked auto today will find that his loot—one brief case—will cause him more trouble than he bargained for.

The brief case and the car belonged to George Suzuki, deputy collector of U.S. internal revenue.

Along with a local petty larceny charge, Federal authorities would like to talk to the culprit about:

1. Stealing Government documents.
2. Theft of Government money.
3. False possession of Government credentials.
4. Interfering with a Federal employee's duties.

Bizarre Case "Backfires" On Constable

TORONTO, July 14 (CP). — The bizarre case of Provincial Police Constable J. E. Keays of Belleville, Ont., who leveled wholesale charges of misconduct against seven fellow officers and a Crown attorney, ended today with an official recommendation for his dismissal from the police force.

The recommendation came from Mr. Justice J. Keiller Mackay, who investigated the more than 60 accusations as a one-man Royal Commission and handed down this finding:

CHARGES UNSUPPORTED

"His charges and allegations of wrong-doing, perjury, deceit, inefficiency, and unimpartiality against public officials and police officers remain wholly unsupported and are completely without vindication, justification, mitigation or excuse."

But, while the Royal Commissioner found no evidence to support Keays' allegations, he did recommend a reorganization of the Belleville district of the Ontario Provincial Police.

Reports Progress On Dollar Talks

Nash said the representatives had continued to make good progress in general discussions on long-term measures to close the dollar gap.

Charge Breach Of Treaty By Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP).—Britain and the United States today charged Yugoslavia with violating the Italian peace treaty by introducing Yugoslav currency into its zone of Trieste.

The State Department made public a note which State Secretary Dean Acheson sent to the Yugoslav charge d'affaires, Milenko Filipovic.

This note said the Yugoslav military administration "has violated the treaty and has followed a policy clearly calculated to tie the Yugoslav zone ever more closely to Yugoslavia."

Press Officer Michael McDermott, in making the note public, said he understood the British Government has taken similar action.

Newsman Testifies Tokio Rose Admitted Broadcasts to Troops

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14 (INS).—Former International News Service War Correspondent Clark Lee declared today that Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino admitted to him she made "Tokio Rose" broadcasts designed to make American servicemen unhappy.

Lee took the stand at her treason trial in San Francisco today to testify concerning an exclusive interview he obtained with the defendant for International News Service September 1, 1945.

Into the record with the testimony went a card he obtained from her at the time. It read:

"For Clark Lee, who interviewed me in Tokio September 1. Signed: Iva Toguri (Tokio Rose)."

ADMITTED BROADCASTS

Under questioning by Chief Prosecutor Tom De Wolfe the newsman testified that Iva admitted she broadcast to Allied servicemen on lonely Pacific islands "that their sweethearts were unfaithful and their wives going out with other men."

Lee said that Iva also told him she taunted American soldiers after the Battle of Formosa in which the Japanese claimed they had sunk many American ships. On "the suggestion of a major," he quoted her as saying, she broadcast "orphans of the Pacific—you really are orphans now—how are you going to get home?"

But Iva did not think the work she did was treasonable. Lee quoted her as telling him:

"I have no particular feeling about the broadcasts. The experience was educational. I learned the 'mike' technique and had the thrill of hearing my own voice."

Ship Grounded In Dense Fog

BOSTON, July 14 (INS) — The steamship Nantasket went aground today in the worst fog in years in Boston harbor and 693 passengers were taken ashore by Coast Guard boats.

There were an estimated 300 children aboard the steamer, most of them small.

There was no panic and the transfer was completed without incident.

Crazed Prisoner Gives Up Perch

LIMA, O., July 14 (AP)—Raymond Jutila, the tank-sitting killer at Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane, descended from his 130-foot water-tower perch today nearly 29 hours after he went up.

The crazed lifer took to the tower top yesterday because "some convicts are going to get" his family.

Police Chief Johnson of Warren, earlier said the whole situation was a figment of Jutila's imagination.

Lumber Sale Gets Approval

WASHINGTON, July 14 (CP). — Purchase of $6,000,000 worth of Canadian lumber by Britain was approved today by the Economic Co-operation Administration.

Another Marshall-Plan grant gave French North Africa $51,000 to buy farm equipment from Canada.

Ships Queueing Up in London With No Sign of Strike Break

LONDON, July 14 (CP). — Ships today began queueing in the Thames estuary, awaiting berths along London's strike-jammed docks, with no sign of an immediate break in the labor dispute threatening the country's economy.

Nine ships are at anchor near the river mouth. Of these, eight carry food vitally needed if Britain's rations are not to be jeopardized.

CARS LINE DOCKS

Outgoing cargoes also were seriously affected. About 1,200 cars are lined up on London docks. Thousands more are jammed in supply lines between factories and docks.

Meanwhile more servicemen went to work on the docks — and more stevedores walked out in protest against the Government's move to break their support of the Canadian Seamen's Union fight against the Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.) and the Canadian ship owners.

The Ministry of Transport announced tonight that "large numbers of additional service personnel" will be on hand tomorrow to step up work in the port.

DISCUSS SITUATION

The combined executives of the striking stevedores and lightermen's unions met to discuss whether their men had been "misled" by C.S.U. leaders.

They discussed what they had learned yesterday during a visit to Canada House to see Dana Wilgress, Canadian High Commissioner in London, it was understood. But Doucette, a member of the C.S.U. strike committee, attended to present the case for his Union. Following the joint executive session, no representatives would enlarge on the following terse statement to the press:

"Having heard the statements of representatives of the C.S.U., we have instructed officers concerned to explore all avenues to effect settlement of the whole dispute."

Ponoka Cowboy Sets New Mark At Stampede

CALGARY, July 14 (CP).—Canadian cowboys, paced by the record-breaking performance of Everett Vold of Ponoka, Alta., continued their domination of the spine-tingling steer decorative event at the Calgary Stampede today.

The young Alberta cowpuncher who has never figured prominently in a major stampede event before, flashed off his horse in the second go-round of the North American steer decorating championships and decorated his steer in the record-breaking time of 3 seconds flat.

BREAKS OLD MARK

Vold's spectacular performance clipped one-fifth of a second off the former Stampede mark set in 1941 by Warner Linder of Cardston, Alta., and equalled by seven other cowboys.

Vold, who slipped his ribbon over the horns of a galloping longhorn in 6 2-5 seconds in the first go-round, now is tied for first place in the championship chase with a combined time of 9 2-5 seconds.

Rod McDonald of Clarcholm, Alta., competing with a badly injured leg, chalked up a 5 2-5 seconds time today to go with his earlier 4 seconds flat performance to tie Vold.

"TOPS FOR TASTE"
When the man of the house rates a bread "tops," you're more pleased than he is. That's the verdict being given to the new BUTTER-KRUST Loaf in thousands of Vancouver Island homes. "Outstandingly good", just about sums up expressed opinions on this new, sweeter, richer loaf.
"TOAST AND SANDWICHES GREAT!"
Like other taste-testers of BUTTER-KRUST, you'll notice its texture and better flavor in toast and sandwiches. Here are some family comments: "Makes very tasty sandwiches"; "Delicious—doesn't go soggy"; "Toasts very evenly and quickly"; "Fine, sweet, eatable crust".
"KEEPS BETTER"
Of course your men-folk like their lunch-box sandwiches really fresh—and that's another reason why they'll prefer BUTTER-KRUST. You'll find it fresher for overnight sandwiches. In fact, BUTTER-KRUST stays fresh for days. Buy it—and see!

Yesterday Not Really Hot—Weatherman Says 'Twas 66

You probably thought it was hot yesterday.

But it just wasn't so—as far as the weatherman is concerned.

At 4 p.m. yesterday the thermometer at the Gonzales Observatory was registering a cool 66 degrees, which was a long way from the record of 86 degrees hung up on July 17, 1941 and June 25, 1925.

It should be noted, however, that the temperature on Gonzales Hill is frequently several degrees cooler than in other parts of the city.

At the halfway-mark for this month the hottest days were July 8 and 10, when the temperature reached 71 degrees.

And the hottest day this year was way back on May 12 when 77 degrees was registered.

The complete lack of rainfall so far this month is not too exceptional either, the weatherman says. Rainless Julys occurred here in 1889, 1896 and 1922.

"Trace" rainfall was all that was offered in 1914 and 1926, while 1937 had only .01 inches and 1944 a midget .02.

And average rainfall for the month is only .44 inches.

So far this year 11.05 inches of rain have fallen on the city—1.47 inches below average to the end of June.

Wettest July on record was in 1932 when 1.93 inches fell. Dampest day was July 11, that year, when an .85 inch downpour hit Victoria.

28 MEN TO FLY

Lieut.-Col. W. H. Taylor will be in charge of a party of 28 men who, having completed their army reserve training course at Work Point Barracks, will board a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane at Patricia Bay tomorrow afternoon for Vancouver.

From that city they will proceed by rail to their homes in Trail, Cranbrook and Nelson. The men will be in uniform during the trip.

Local officials of the air line point out it is unusual for a comparatively large group of such men to travel by commercial air line service from this city.

PAULDING HONORED

Frank Paulding was presented with an automatic toaster in appreciation of his help in training Junior Optimists at a meeting of the Optimist Club yesterday in Lougheeds Banquet Hall.

Meanwhile final plans were made for the annual picnic of the junior and senior members to be held at Saseenos Beach on July 24.

It was also decided that the weekly luncheon meetings of the club would be suspended until September 8.

TEENERS PLAN DANCE

Members of the Mid-Town Teen Town organization will hold their summer formal ball tomorrow night (Saturday) at the Newstead Hall, 734 Fort Street. Music will be provided by Ted Spencer's six-piece orchestra, and Robert Heller will act as master of ceremonies.

Ray Hunt, and his daughter Meralyn will provide the floor show. Mrs. Doris Heller will be at the piano.

Officers of the organization ask that all members get their new membership tickets as early as possible.

Parents of members have been invited to inspect the club headquarters and present suggestions or comments to the supervisors.

Plans are also being made to hold Sunday evening dances at Tartis Lake Park, to which there will be no admission charge.

PUPPETS ENTERTAIN

William Neilson's internationally-known "String Ensemble" provided a rare 35 minutes entertainment to Summer School students yesterday in the Victoria High School Auditorium.

A capacity audience watched Mr. Neilson work his marionette theatre which includes a rhumba dancer, a ballet dancer, Nicodemus, a darkie, Taffy, a sailor, and a chicken, duck and hound as personnel.

Dancing and miming of the characters, most of which are under 12 inches, was more life-like than any seen here for years.

Mr. Neilson states that in making a puppet, character was more important than the actual representation of life.

The "String Ensemble" has crossed and re-crossed the United States six times since its first appearance at the Summer School four years ago.

Oak Bay Receives Kiwanis Pavilion

Handsome New Pavilion Presented to Oak Bay

The municipality of Oak Bay officially acquired a handsome new $7,000 building at a cost of only $1,750 last night.

Keys to the building, the Kiwanis-constructed refreshment pavilion at Willows Beach, were turned over to Reeve Robert Wootton by club president Dr. Roy Johnson in a brief ceremony.

In return, Dr. Johnson received a check for $1,750 from Reeve Wootton.

TEAROOM OPENED

The ceremony also marked the official opening of the pavilion, refreshment counter of which had been in operation since May 24.

However, the tearoom overlooking the water was not opened until last night.

Members of the Oak Bay club were praised for their voluntary undertaking of the project by Northwest District Lieutenant-Governor Denis Hagar.

Also attending the ceremony were Councillors George Murdoch, Percy Moir, Fred Robinson and J. V. Johnson.

LOCKER FACILITIES

Operated by club members, the pavilion is open Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, all day Sunday and also on special picnic days.

Men's locker facilities and storage space for playground equipment are provided in addition to refreshments.

All proceeds will go towards purchase of equipment for Oak Bay playgrounds and towards a $50 annual Kiwanis bursary for the best all-round student at Oak Bay High School.

FIRE IN KITCHEN

Combination of paraffin wax and a hot range caused a small fire in the kitchen of a home owned by F. S. Dawson, 1034 St. David Street, at 5:45 p.m. yesterday.

The fire was put out by Mrs. Dawson and her father using a handy fire extinguisher. The small blaze scorched and blistered some paint, acording to Mr. Dawson.

Building Trade Plans Holiday

Victoria construction workers will take a week's holiday with pay commencing Sunday.

The vacation, required by provincial legislation, has been set by the Victoria Building Industries Exchange for all members.

Contractors who are not members of the exchange have indicated that they will observe the holiday week for their employees.

Also closing for the week will be allied businesses, including wholesale supply firms and most of the city's mill factories.

Trades affected by the ruling are carpenters, bricklayers, concrete workers, electricians, roofers, tile-setters, lathers, plasterers, painters, plumbers and sheet metal workers.

Victoria Firm Alone on V.I. In Registering

During the week ended yesterday only one Victoria company was registered under the Companies Act.

Registrations are as follows:

Vancouver Island — Camera Studies Club Limited, 100 no par value shares, Victoria.

Saanich Police Still Seek Ten Mile Point Firebug

The Saanich firebug, thought responsible for disastrous brush fires in the Ten Mile Point area recently, is still being sought by Saanich police.

But doubts were cast yesterday on the chances of catching the arsonist.

"In a case of this kind you practically have to have a confession or catch the person in the act of lighting fire," a department spokesman stated.

Special investigators working in the area for the past two days, said that they were not discounting the possibility that the fires had been touched off accidentally.

"These brush fires can work their way past a wet-down area by traveling in a deep bed of moss," one constable pointed out.

"Then they flare up again suddenly, after it is thought that all danger is past."

Saanich Police Chief Josiah Bull yesterday deplored the wastefulness of the fires that swept over the Ten Mile Point acreage.

"It's too bad—cost a lot of money to fight those fires," he said. "But we have no news yet on how they were set."

sized that the number of fires all arising in the one area made the suspicion of incendiarism well-founded.

Hotel Hall "Public;" Man Jailed

A man who described himself as an unsuccessful applicant to Alcoholics Anonymous was sentenced to 20 days in jail when he appeared before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court yesterday.

Two city police told the court they had found him in the hallway of his rooming-house, intoxicated. He was using foul language, they said, and put up a fight when the police arrested him.

In court, the accused told the magistrate that far from being in a public place, he was in the hallway just outside his room.

"This whole thing was caused by people coming into my room and pushing me out into the hall," he complained.

"I was trying to get back in when the police came," he added.

He told the judge he knew he was drunk and had kept to his room with the express purpose of staying out of any public place in which he could be charged with drunkenness.

He had two previous convictions read out against him which left the magistrate no alternative to the 20-day sentence.

The magistrate told him the hallway of a hotel is legally a public place.

Begin Work at Quesnel On New P.G.E. Extension

Grading of the first section of new construction on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway started at Quesnel this week with the arrival at that point of heavy equipment and crews.

The first section of the rebuilding project runs from the present end of steel at Quesnel to mileage 14.2 at the Cottonwood Canyon. This work is to be done by Campbell-Bennett Limited, Vancouver contractors. Colin Campbell, president of the company, expects to finish the section by the end of October.

HEADQUARTERS SET

District engineer's headquarters have been set up at Quesnel and all work on the 83-mile extension to Prince George will be handled by the district engineering staff. Additional contracts will be let when all plans and specifications are completed.

The start of work Monday marked the first stage of major railway construction in this province since the completion of the Squamish to Quesnel line in 1920. The road was constructed to Prince George, but was never used and the rails were taken up during the last war. Quesnel to Prince George has since been resurveyed and relocated.

Last Friday engineers blasted a beaver dam to drain a flooded area on the first section and this area will be used for an assembly yard for construction materials.

The Cottonwood Canyon bridge, which is on the Campbell-Bennett job, will be a separate contract and will be constructed of steel and concrete. The bridge will be 900 feet long and its greatest depth 175 feet. On their contract the Campbell-Bennett Company will use D.M. 10 tractor units and these will be the first rubber traction equipment to be used on railway construction work in the West.

OFTEN you want a pie for dessert, but you simply haven't the time to start in and make first the pastry, then the filling. Save time! Keep a supply of pastry mix in your refrigerator, and be prepared for flaky, digestible, nutritious pastry at a moment's notice!

Swift'ning Pastry Mix
Yields About 10 cups
1 pound (2¼ cups) Swift'ning
7 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon salt (3 teaspoons)

Sift flour with salt. Cut in quick-mixing Swift'ning, using a pastry blender, fork, two knives, or the finger tips, until the mixture is the consistency of coarse cornmeal. Store in a covered container in the refrigerator. For one 8-inch deep pie crust, use 1 cup Pastry Mix and about 2 tablespoons water. Sprinkle water over flour mixture gradually, blending to form a stiff dough. Shape into a ball. Turn onto lightly floured board. Knead twice to blend thoroughly. Roll out lightly from centre to edges, keeping circular shape. Roll out to fit pan. Prick the crust thoroughly. Bake. For two 8-inch deep pie crusts use 2½ cups Pastry Mix and 4-6 tablespoons water.

Saanich Could Come to the Rescue

HOW long is an emergency supposed to last? That is what residents of the Gordon Head emergency shelter project are asking, and in no uncertain terms. They have every reason for disquiet. The pictures and descriptive article published by this newspaper show beyond all doubt the deplorable conditions under which these war veterans and their families are forced to live. In the light of all the circumstances and the time that has elapsed since the war ended the situation is a disgrace.

Saanich Municipality is not to be blamed for the Gordon Head camp or its unhappy environment. The postwar housing problem has been bedeviled from the start by conflicting authority. The Dominion-provincial-municipal triangle affords endless opportunity for "passing the buck," and it has been thrown about all too often in the present case. Saanich can do something about the Gordon Head situation by accepting the Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation plan for 152 low rental homes. When built these might not go directly to the veterans living in the Gordon Head camp, but they would relieve the housing shortage substantially and thus free at least some of the families from their present unwholesome surroundings.

The veteran who said, "I don't understand how any councillor can quibble over a trifling tax arrangement when men who fought for this country are living in conditions like this," will find many others to echo his sentiments. The Saanich Council should reconsider its purely negative stand. Conditions at Gordon Head will get worse instead of better, and as they are now their irony must bite into the hearts of men once hailed as heroes in their country's cause.

High Construction Costs Retard Expansion

INDEFINITE postponement by the British Columbia Cement Company of construction of the proposed new cement plant at Deep Bay has caused a minor setback in plans for expansion of industrialization on Vancouver Island, upon the fulfilment of which part of the Island's economic future depends. Apparently the company has not abandoned the project to establish mills to use the Horne Lake limestone deposits, and is holding itself in readiness to proceed at some later time; but like many another development involving plant construction on a substantial scale, the project has had to be shelved temporarily because building costs are deemed prohibitive.

This is another striking illustration of the way in which high costs of labor and materials can put a crimp into projects that would, if they could be carried to completion, afford increased opportunities of employment, in the construction stage and more importantly in the permanent operation of plant. In the case of B.C. Cement, as an example, it has been estimated that the Deep Bay development would provide steady jobs for about one hundred men.

The company has stated that since the plan was mooted only a relatively short time ago estimates of construction costs have almost doubled, from $4,500,000 to upwards of $8,000,000. Against this the price the company receives for cement has advanced less than 25 per cent, making it economically unsound in the company's view to proceed with a scheme involving heavy capital outlay until building costs show a reasonable decline. In the light of current wage trends, that may be a long time hence. It is becoming more and more apparent that labor is in a fair way towards pricing itself out of a job, and moreover by so doing is retarding development that would create other work.

"Off With His Head" Said the Duchess

PSYCHOLOGISTS have a name for it, but metaphorically banging heads seems to have become the preoccupation of a frustrated and bewildered era. Let a circus be brought to town and heads are banged. Let the circus be denied admittance and heads will be banged just as readily. The Minister for This, or for That, says he will or he won't, and either way his head suffers. Even the psychologists are not exempt, for they have been banging heads in right merry fashion, with trifling exceptions for members of the same cloth. Is it a postwar symptom, part of the exhaustion that follows years of tension and nervous strain, or just the dog days of Summer when the weather is warm and the human spirit stirs in wishful revolt?

Canada's own Stephen Leacock caricatured it wittily in another age, that following the Great War. He spoke of the high-chested intolerance of the Lats who would have their knives into the Slats, and vice versa. Every head he remarked of the period, was one to be cracked if it showed itself above the parapet for a moment. Well, the world seems to have come to it again. The Donnybrooks are going merrily around the world daily. Nobody seems to like anybody any more, and with the slightest excuse—and often without one—will say so to the length of three sticks of type. When it is all said, to what does it amount? The world has to live with itself and the neighbors for a good long while to come.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE weather in Victoria of late has been nice but normal, says the weatherman. This is perhaps the most comforting thing I have heard for a long time.

Not many things are normal these days, if by normal we mean what used to be—and maybe we shouldn't mean that. If it is true that we never go back then things are never the same.

An exception might be made in the case of the weather, however. Up till this Summer I was afraid those atomic bombs really had changed something and that "normal" climate in these parts had undergone a transformation.

I'm sure the publicity bureau must be pleased.

Many things depend on the weather naturally, but did you ever stop to think that the vast tourist industry has been built on the bland assumption that the sun will keep on shining. Presumption, surely.

No one in his right senses, or so we think, picks a vacation spot because he is certain to find rain there. I hope to have a holiday in a few week's time, and like you I shall be annoyed if the weather is not propitious. Actually I'm beginning to be afraid the law of averages is bound to intervene unpleasantly after all these wetless weeks.

* * *

Yet this anxiety about rain is a strange thing in its way. It's funny how people hate rain, upon which they depend for their daily bread. The exclamations of disgust you hear when the sky clouds up and the pavement gets wet are really shocking. You would think it was a personal affront.

We are a fair weather lot, we are.

We've built our lives on dry sunny days—our car rides, our games, our hunting trips, even our walks, for only the staunch pedestrian ever thinks of going for a walk in the rain.

And what would vacations be like without the sun.

You can get too much sun, of course, and I'm not referring to sunburn, about which beach loafers never learn. There are places where even a brilliant blue cloudless sky eventually palls, and makes you run out to greet the rain with upturned face.

Not in Victoria, to be sure, despite "normal" Summers like the one we're enjoying this year.

As a matter of fact, though, a few more raindrops wouldn't hurt us one bit. It's heresy to say so, I know, and they would never tolerate the thought in a tourist folder, but this delightful peninsula—normally—isn't really the evergreen playground. If you judge by the number of burnt-out lawns you see it would be more appropriate to call it the evertrown playground.

But then I daresay the evergreen caption comes from the evergreen trees.

* * *

Anyway, I don't hear anyone complaining about the prolonged spell of dry weather we have been having, except perhaps the Saanich farmers. And no one pays much attention to them, poor chaps. They're expected to keep on producing without interfering with the pleasure of city folks.

And, the nub of it, the latter's pleasure is not a farmer's when it comes to rain and sunshine.

It is an uneven world this, all right. It always will be, I suppose, until some way can be devised to make it rain in the fields only—the working fields not the playing fields—and I don't expect to see that in my lifetime.

Not that it wouldn't be intriguing. Always when it rains I feel I would like to stand just where the raindrops begin and end, as they must do at some particular line. In a vague way you notice this when you drive from wet Victoria to dry Saanich, or vice versa, but then you say to yourself "Oh, it's stopped raining," adding if you are an urbanite—"that's good."

Now it hasn't been raining at all in the dry spot so it hasn't stopped. What I'm after is the precise line of demarcation—the curtain, as it were, so that I could stand and let my right arm get wet while my left arm remains dry.

People, you see, are never satisfied. However, we are now into the dog days, as the ancient Greeks called them, although they came two months early this year. All I'm anxious about is that they continue for another five or six weeks.

So, I bet, is the tourist industry.

The French Policy of Amnesty

By REMY ROURE
Chief Editorial Writer of Le Monde
Paris

THE idea of amnesty and of national appeasement instead of a conciliation, and of pardon rather than forgetting, has gradually been accepted by the French nation. Without doubt it would have made greater progress if it had not been obstructed by the publications of "collaborators," of writers who were in favor under the Vichy regime, and who wished to justify their attitude and even to extol it.

But, in the opposing camp, the Resistance itself was often hindered in its action by excesses committed at the time of the liberation: the summary executions which were carried out from time to time for motives far removed from those of justice, for motives of personal revenge, of greed and of lust for plunder. These acts of banditry were almost always committed by rogues, who, taking advantage of the disturbed state of the country, had managed to penetrate into the Maquis and into Resistance organizations at the last minute. Sometimes too, actual members of the Fighting French, who have been deceived by false reports, were at fault, or else mere unscrupulous adventurers. Perhaps too, the Resistance leaders were wrong in repudiating the suggestions of clemency which were made and in which they themselves should have taken the initiative.

This problem of amnesty is indeed complex and its very complexity explains the hesitations of the different governments. Everyone agrees that the assassins, the "killers" of the collaboration, the informers, the torturers who were in the service of the enemy, all those guilty of treachery should be punished and excluded from all pardon. The majority have been indicted and are still being indicted before the Courts of Justice. But how is "treachery" to be defined and what are its limits? Darnand's bands of militiamen were authorized, publicly at least, and even encouraged by the de facto governments formed by Marshal Petain. Is it possible to separate crimes and excesses, the denunciations, the torturings, the murders and the looting from acts produced by these encouragements? A law of the Vichy Government enforced denunciation, and punished those who, acquainted with acts carried out against the regime of collaboration, did not denounce them.

But there was also a great number of French people who had "followed the Marshal" who believed in him, and who had done nothing which, even remotely, could go under the name of treachery. Many of them, punished with "national degradation," had been condemned by civil Courts of Justice over which presided their political adversaries. Without doubt, many pardons have already been granted. And these crimes have not been put down so severely as is sometimes imagined, especially abroad. In October, 1944, 90 Courts of Justice were established: 65 had finished their work by January, 1947, only eight remained in April, 1948, and four at the beginning of the following month of October. Out of 120,000 cases which were investigated, rather more than 500 are still being examined. These courts pronounced 790 sentences of death which were carried out, and 38,000 sentences of imprisonment. Out of those, 27,000 people have been pardoned and granted unconditional or provisional release. Out of 40,000 national degradations, 25,000 are still in force. The suppression of economic collaborators was carried out on a greater scale.

* * *

A continually strengthening movement of appeasement, which aims at wiping away the traces of all censure which springs from differences of opinion, is revealing itself. "The crime of holding a different opinion" cannot exist in a democracy worthy of the name. The government's project which the Minister of Justice is putting into effect has as its aim the settlement of these problems of the aftermath of war, by granting pardon by amnesty to the fullest possible extent and by the suppression of exceptional legal judgments, rather than a settlement brought about by a general amnesty.

Many wounds are still too sore to make it possible to forget the past, and a few generations will have to grow up before total appeasement will be reached.

Letters and Excerpts

PETS KILLED

Sir,—I want to express my opinion of how dangerous the traffic situation has become of late on Helmcken Road.

On Thursday night, someone ran over and killed my beautiful yellow and orange cat; making three lovely cats run down and killed in the last few days; also a dog killed in the last week, and another one injured.

To motorists, they may be just a cat or a dog, but to the owners who love them it is a great loss. Cars and trucks tear up and down the road every minute of the day, and most of the night, too, and it is not safe for man or beast any more.

Yet this is the road they expect little tots to walk on to get to and from the new school to be opened here in a few months' time.

So, unless something is done to check the useless speeding, both ways, it will be children instead of pets that will be run down.

I only hope the person who killed my pet will read this letter and realize the loss he or she has caused to my husband and myself. We have no family left at home now; but Pinky, our cat, was just like a member of the family and a great comfort to us.

All we have asked was to be allowed to live in peace and quiet and have a pet around for company. But it seems that even that small pleasure is denied to us.

It is with a sad heart that I write this letter, in the hope that precautions can be taken to stop the needless killing of pets. It is hard to lose a pet after you have raised it and had the pleasure of its company for four and a half years' time.

FROM ARIZONA

Sir,—Well, here I am again and, first, let me thank you for sending me my Colonists to my home in Tucson, Arizona, then at my request to Canterbury Hotel, San Francisco, for month of June; and, on my arrival here on morning of July 5, found my Colonist in my box at the hotel.

May I also express my joy at finding the streets so wonderfully different. It is a real pleasure to drive on them now and I congratulate you all for the great change.

Also, I see something we do not have, so far as I know, down yonder across the imaginary line that really ought not to be there (the line, I mean), and that is the directional lanes at several crossings in the downtown area. I refer to "Right Turn," "No Turn" and "Left Turn". I consider these most satisfactory and appropriate and should help materially to eliminate confusion and prevent delay.

I'm late this year, but I just had to come back and I am abundantly happy to be here for two months, sure.

Mahalo to you, and my aloha.

BRITISH EFFORT

Sir,—I should like to add my protest against Nigel A. Tomlin's criticism of the British lack of "getting down to it." A large proportion of the British people have fought, or been directly involved in, two major wars; and although these are called World Wars, it is obvious by the lack of understanding and conception shown by some, that the hardships, etc., mental and physical, were not at all evenly distributed.

A lot more helpful co-operation and thought towards the British and Europeans still suffering from the effects of these wars would go a long way towards averting further conflict of which there is too glib talk in the countries which have not experienced total war), and of achieving the ideals of the United Nations.

From "Tintern Abbey"

. . . That time is past,
And all its aching joys are now no more,
And all its dizzy raptures. Not for this
Faint I, nor mourn nor murmur; other gifts
Have followed; for such loss, I would believe,
Abundant recompense. For I have learned
To look on nature, not as in the hour
Of thoughtless youth; but hearing often-times
The still, sad music of humanity,
Nor harsh, nor grating, though of ample power
To chasten and subdue. And I have felt
A presence that disturbs me with the joy
Of elevated thoughts; a sense sublime
Of something far more deeply interfused,
Whose dwelling is the light of setting suns,
And the round ocean, and the living air,
And the blue sky, and in the mind of man:
A motion and a spirit, that impels
All thinking things, all objects of all thought,
And rolls through all things . . .

"Will People Be Any Happier?"

From Saturday Night, Toronto

A PICTURE spread in Coronet magazine shows Seven Wonders of the World of Tomorrow—some of the powerful dreams with which men are toying today. Actually most of them are already past the toying stage.

One—a great Pan-American highway running up and down these two continents—has been under construction for years. Another—a giant bridge across New York Harbor from Brooklyn to Staten Island—is planned and will be built. Three more of the wonders of tomorrow have been discussed by engineers for decades; a tunnel under the English Channel, being strongly agitated again this Summer; a mighty dam on the Yangtse, now deferred through the Communist seizure of China, and a new Atlantic-Pacific Canal, across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec in Mexico shortening the New York-San Francisco passage by two thousand miles.

The two other wonders reach far out into the world of tomorrow; platforms suspended a thousand miles above the earth, for refueling spaceships; and a scheme for lighting up the whole sky at night by "bombarding the infinite atomic particles of space with rays which would set them aglow."

Highly fanciful ideas, one would have said even ten years ago. But who would assert flatly today that they are impossible, now that man has learned to see in the dark with radar, to fly at a thousand miles an hour and fire projectiles two hundred and fifty miles into the air between Holland and London, and to release the untold and terrifying energy of the atom?

This is a wonderful day for the engineer, who can look forward to building "almost anything", to fulfilling the dreams of all the ages—wonderful, provided that he can keep his thoughts from straying to the dread possibility that his technical genius may be perverted to a technical horror.

The great problem for which the men who illustrated these magnificent dreams attempt no answer is whether man can live any better with his new wonders. Will their achievement be matched by new spiritual powers with which he can control this increasingly complex world, or will it so inflate his already overweening ego as to ensure his downfall?

Engineers who prepare new wonders had better think deeply on the source of their rather terrifying powers, and play their full part in seeking to ensure that these be kept under control.

YOU CAN'T MISS IT!

In the office of the manager of a big city department store, a woman patron was registering a complaint.

"I can't understand," said she, "why your floorwalker had to be so unreasonable. I asked him a simple question, but before he answered he wanted to know where I came from."

"What did you ask him?" the manager gently inquired.

"Just a plain, simple question," the lady retorted. "All I said was, 'Pardon me, but is this the second turn to the left'?"

Dissatisfaction Growing in Hawaii As Islands' Industry Hit by Strike

By JIM TANG
Colonist Staff Writer

HONOLULU, July 12 (Delayed) — Fifteen Canadian newsmen, representing papers from Montreal to the West Coast, are having the time of their lives as the well-looked-after guests of the Canadian Pacific Airlines on the pre-inaugural trip of the new C.P.A. Vancouver-Sydney air service.

But yesterday many of them took time out from their rounds of receptions, cocktail parties and sight-seeing to take a personal glimpse at the big topic of the moment—the strike-beset Hawaiian Islands.

The Island's industry is nearing a standstill after 72 days of the I.L.W.U. strike called by Harry Bridges over a so-called wage dispute. Prevailing opinion here is that the strike is Communist inspired and the citizens are getting more than a little irate over the state of affairs. In two instances at least they have taken definite action.

UNLOAD TINPLATE

The first came when a citizens' committee started to unload 2,600 tons of tinplate from a ship for canneries. Union pickets attempted to stop a truck from crossing the picket lines. In the ensuing small-scale riot, a policeman was cut by a knife-wielding picket, who was rounded up along with 103 of his cohorts. They were promptly bailed out at a cost of $10,600 to the union. Unloading is now proceeding unmolested and is expected to be complete within a few days.

But most interesting of all is probably the oddest picket line in labor history. For the past 56 days, Honolulu housewives have been picketing union offices each morning in what has been dubbed the "Broom Brigade." Before police stepped in to put a stop to it, the perturbed union sent out pickets to picket the housewives, creating the odd situation of picketers picketing the pickets' picketers.

INDICATION OF FEELING

Just what effect the "broom brigade" may have on the final outcome is not known but it is an indication of how the people of Honolulu feel about a strike which may virtually paralyze the Islands unless it is soon settled.

The brigade is representative of every class in the city. On the day I went down to the waterfront to have my look, about 200 women were circling a boulevard in front of the labor offices, happily singing "The Old Grey Mare" and other songs as sprightly. Siding up the "brigade," one could see women from every walk of life and from practically every one of the myriad Island racial strains. Some had even brought their children and several youngsters ranging in years from four and up to seven or eight were carrying a broom, with its placard fastened on the business end.

The writing on the placards also indicated the mood of the average citizen. I can remember such as "We want good unions," "Whose Union, yours or Bridges?" "Keep your indicted liars out of Honolulu." "We can do very well without Bridges." "You can't be a Communist and an American." "No guts, no rice, no men, all mice?" "Warning—We can't take much more." "Australia won't have Bridges. Why should we?"

VETERAN JOINS LADIES

One limping war veteran had joined the ladies. On his broom, the placard carried an over-sized rat trap. The implication was quite obvious.

Effects of the strike can be noted on every hand. There are few potatoes to be had here and other supplies are running dangerously low. Eggs were flown in and retailed for $1.35 a dozen. Worse than this, business has been hit hard and unemployment grows daily as men and women are laid off or put on a staggered shift at shorter hours and consequently less pay. There is a fear that the strike will also make even more serious inroads into Hawaii's booming tourist trade, which so far has virtually been unaffected as far as services go.

But the biggest worry of all is the pineapple crop, second biggest industry of the Islands, to say nothing of the sugar industry, the largest.

Had not the pineapple crop fortunately been a month late this year, it would not have been harvested—at least a great deal of it would not have been harvested. As it is, there is little chance even now that all of it can be saved if the strike was suddenly settled. Pineapples must be harvested when they are ready, and without ships to bring in the necessary tinplate and other supplies, much of it is sure to go to waste.

SUGAR STACKING UP

Sugar has been stacking up and even schoolrooms have been pressed into service for storage. It has been estimated that $25,000,000 worth of sugar is awaiting shipment. Although this may not be wasted, there is likely to be considerable of a loss as top market prices will have been missed.

It all adds up to a serious situation and something will have to be done soon. So far there has been comparatively little violence but the mood of citizens other than the 2,000 strikers can be expected to get blacker as conditions worsen.

Missing Boy Found in Park

VANCOUVER, July 14 (CP) — Eight-year-old Brian Armstrong was found today sleeping in Stanley Park here. The boy had been missing since late yesterday.

An intensive hunt by police and boy's parents was launched last night when he failed to show up for a beach picnic following a swim.

The boy's parents feared he met with foul play in the heavily-wooded park. Police at first thought he might have drowned.

Paul Robeson Branded Communist

WASHINGTON, July 14 (INS) — Paul Robeson was openly branded as a Communist for the first time today by a former high-ranking negro Communist in testimony before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Manning Johnson told the committee that the noted negro singer was motivated by a desire to be a "Black Stalin" among American negroes, and that he had secretly been a top-level Communist for years. He said Robeson used his world concert tours to "engage in secret inter-continental work."

SAYS THEATS USED

Johnson, now an official of the A.F.L. Retail Clerks' Association, declared that during his ten years of party membership, Red leaders used their most dire threat, expulsion from Communist ranks, to keep other members from divulging Robeson's Communist Party affiliation.

The witness said he was a member of the Communist Party's national committee from 1936 through 1938 and had frequently seen Robeson at conferences in the movement's New York headquarters. He added:

"As far as Paul Robeson's membership in the Communist Party, I have not the slightest iota of doubt."

Robeson according to Johnson took orders only from the highest of party leaders.

Johnson accused Robeson of joining with Communist Party leaders "in contempt for negro leaders in America" who, he said are working for progress on racial problems. The witness added:

"He (Robeson) would like to destroy that progress because he would like to ride into power on the broken backs of the negroes in this country."

Canada's Supply of American Dollars Increased $500,000,000 by Aid Plan

OTTAWA, July 14 (CP) — The Marshall Plan has brought approximately $500,000,000 in scarce American dollars into Canada in its first 15 months in operation.

This figure, from an authoritative source, is a rough estimate of the value of goods bought in the Dominion by the 16 countries participating in the Economic Co-operation Administration and paid for with American dollars.

Up to the beginning of July the United States had allotted money for Marshall-Plan countries to buy $762,619,778 worth of goods in Canada. The figure is contained in a report on E.C.A. authorizations for purchases in the Dominion, made public here today.

However, up to the present it is estimated that only 70 per cent of the authorized purchases have been completed to the point where the American dollars have actually come to Canada.

The way in which Canada benefits from E.C.A. is this: The 16 Marshall-Plan countries have worked out among themselves just how they are going to divide the $6,364,762,967 thus far authorized for over-all purchases.

After that the countries decided individually on what things they would like to buy in Canada and pay for with the Marshall-Plan money.

Up to May 21 E.C.A. had given the green light for those countries to use $742,767,776 for buying various commodities from Canada.

Today's report shows that during the month of June there were further authorizations of $19,852,000.

Taking 70 per cent of that as already spent and paid for, the source estimates that Canada has so far benefited to the tune of more than $500,000,000.

An idea of what that amount has meant to Canada can be gained from the fact that the Dominion's surplus of American dollars is close to $1,000,000,000 as against the dangerously-low surplus of less than $500,000,000 when Finance Minister Abbott found it necessary to introduce dollar-saving measures in November, 1947.

Armed Men Take Control Of Vessel

HONGKONG, July 14 (AP)—Six armed men seized control of the British registered vessel Kewi Wah, a river-steamer, and looted its arsenal and most of its cargo, the ship reported today.

The pirates forced the steamer to go to an isolated spot where 70 more pirates helped them with their loot.

The steamer's captain and eight passengers were held as hostages. The ship returned to Canton.

Meanwhile Chinese reports said 2,000 troops had attacked pirates in the Mirs Bay area in an attempt to clean it out. Fighting was expected to last a week there.

Vote Recount Elects Liberal

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, N.S., July 14 (CP)—Election of Liberal A. A. Elderkin to represent Annapolis-Kings in the Federal House was confirmed today following a judicial recount of the votes cast.

George Nowlan, defeated Progressive Conservative candidate, immediately announced he would take the decision to courts. He claimed more service votes had been cast than were servicemen from the riding.

Today's recount gave Mr. Elderkin a four-vote majority over Mr Nowlan.

Warns Public Against Polio

TORONTO, July 14 (CP)—The Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis has given warning of the possibility of a "very serious" outbreak of poliomyelitis in Canada this year.

Stressing that it did not want to be "alarmist," the foundation said at the same time that the outbreak, if it comes, might be the worst in more than 30 years and urged Canadians to take "every possible" precaution against the disease.

Newlyweds to Make Home in Victoria

—Robert Fort - Duncan Macphail

MR. AND MRS. H. E. STUBBS

—Paul Jones

MR. AND MRS. W. C. LEECH

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh E. Stubbs, pictured on the left, have returned to the city after spending a honeymoon at Yellowstone Park. They were married in Christ Church Cathedral recently. Mrs. Stubbs is the former Miss Betty M. Ellis, daughter of Mrs. Philip R. Ellis, 200 King George Terrace, and the late Mr. Ellis. Mr. and Mrs. Leech have taken up residence in Victoria following their recent marriage which took place in Centennial United Church. The bride is the former Miss Shirley Margaret Colyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert N. Colyer, 549 David Street and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Leech, 3166 Qu'Appelle Street.

India Inspired Costumes for Fall

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Fashion Editor

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—We can't all be Rita Hayworth, but we can dress in begum skirts and dunkha sashes next Fall.

Anthony Blotta has designed an entire "India-modern" collection inspired by the land of the maharajahs, and including everything but the temple bells.

Previewed yesterday for the visiting fashion press, the group highlights the tunic silhouette, goes in for lavish spattering of jewels and sequins, and introduces such colors as Bangor brown, Rhama blue, Oriental Flame, Bombay ochre, Hindustan taupe, Lotus Leaf green and Indu sand.

The begum skirt, as interpreted by Blotta, is pulled tight in front with deep folds at the sides to suggest a dark overskirt. The punkha sash is a train-like floating panel at the front.

The collection also features "hidden temple pockets," which are jacket pockets slit at the sides so you can reach other pockets in the dress beneath.

There also is the "Ghandi rever," being a looped lapel stitched to the sleeve seam.

Adele Simpson predicts that the coat dress will be North America's most popular garment this Fall, and shows it in all versions, from tweed to satin.

Mrs. Simpson shows series of sleek, smooth, understated suits with slim skirts, longish jackets and dressmaker touches such as velvet collars.

Many Visitors At Errington

Mr. and Mrs. E. Anderson of Debuc, Sask., and Mr. E. W. Townsend of Saanichton were recently guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Booth.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Lightheart and family, from Trail, are in residence on the farm formerly belonging to A. D. Braddock.

Mr. H. Hovind of Victoria spent a few days at his home here during the past week.

Mrs. E. Redcliffe of Nanu, B.C., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. Brennon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Richmond have as their guests the former's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Richmond and family from Vancouver.

Recently visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. McDonald were Mr. and Mrs. N. Brown of Regina, and Mr. F. Simms of Saskatoon, also their niece, Mrs. A. Fancett, of New Westminster.

Mrs. A. Strowiger of Hove, England, formerly of Craig's Crossing, recently came from the Old Country by plane and spent a few days visiting friends in the district. While here she visited Mr. and Mrs. B. Courtney. In Victoria she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hogarth.

Mrs. Louise W. O'Connor recently returned from a trip which took her as far south as Denver, Colo. She also visited friends in Montana.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Ware were the former's sister, Mrs. M. King, and Mrs. M. Southwell of Victoria.

Miss J. Baxter has left for Victoria where she will spend several weeks, visiting friends.

Pythian Sisters Plan Sewing Tea

At a meeting of Pythian Sisters, Island Temple No. 8, held on Tuesday evening with Sister S. Hawkins presiding, arrangements were made to hold a sewing tea in Beacon Hill Park on July 20. Co-hostesses will be Sister H. Marshall and Sister O. Carter.

At the close of the business meeting a miscellaneous shower was held in honor of Sister Margaret Glover whose marriage will take place in September. Gifts were concealed in a decorated basket.

Ace Writer Says New Life Tough

VANCOUVER, July 14 (CP). — In the opinion of a top-flight newspaper woman journalism is no occupation for a woman "unless she is prepared to stand the gaff."

Dorothy Howarth of Toronto, winner of this year's Memorial Award from the Canadian Women's Press Club for a series of articles on Newfoundland, warned in an interview that newspaper life is tough.

"The important thing in a newspaper," she said, "is the good all-round reporter, not the columnist or commentator. It's hard for a woman to break in.

"A woman has to work twice as hard and be twice as conscientious as a man to hold her own on the city staff. My advice to aspiring women journalists is to get married as soon as possible and stay out of the game—unless she's prepared to stand the gaff."

A good reporter should have an omnivorous appetite for reading everything from pulps to the classics, a tremendous curiosity and a real feeling for people.

Miss Howarth started in the classified advertising section of the Regina Leader-Post, but "kept pestering for night assignments until I was taken on the editorial staff."

MARATHON ACTING

Some Chinese plays, usually the most popular, are very long, and several days may be needed for their performance.

Lovely July Bride

—Robert Fort - Duncan Macphail

The bride is the former Miss Constance Winnifred Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brown, Agate Lane, Cordova Bay, and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Appleby, 838 Old Esquimalt Road. Mr. and Mrs. Appleby are spending a honeymoon at Cultus Lake and on their return they will reside in Victoria.

Advice to Summer Bachelors

There used to be a song "My wife's gone to the country, hurrah, hurrah." It was not popular for very long perhaps because the "hurrah" was not as enthusiastic as the song might indicate.

Most men who are batching, get their own breakfasts and the going-to-bed snacks even if they do not attempt other meals.

There are some men who pride themselves on their cooking. Most such cooks, however, have a few specialties and let someone else do the routine preparation. When left alone even these experts require some basic information. The man who likes a three-minute boiled egg" may take the designation literally, boil the eggs for three minutes and wonder why the white is tough and the yolk too soft. He does not realize that the eggs he usually eat have probably cooked for 5 or 6 minutes in water that is just under boiling temperature.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, sugegst that the homemaker should give the stay-at-home a few good pointers before she leaves, then she will not need to worry about his welfare.

A few cans of soup, pork and beans, stew and vegetables and a good supply of canned fruit and jam will help in dinner menus for the nights he mows the lawn. Was there ever a man who did not like pancakes? A carton of pancake flour will be easily made up and with maple syrup or honey he may enjoy his favorite dessert.

There are several requisites for perfect coffee. A good quality of coffee, a clean percolator and the right length of time to percolate. His days will begin more pleasantly if he realizes that these points are important and that the clean pot is perhaps most important of all.

Three or four boxes of different kinds of cereal on the shelf allows for a choice and makes a solo breakfast more pleasant.

Scrambled eggs are a favorite but need some attention if they are to be perfect when served.

Here are several recipes to pin up in the kitchen, ready for the occasions when he feels like a meal at home.

SCRAMBLED EGGS, CHEESE

2 eggs, 2 tablespoons milk, salt and pepper to taste, 1 teaspoon butter, 3 tablespoons grated cheese.

Beat eggs and combine with milk and seasonings. Melt butter in double boiler or frying pan. Add egg mixture and cook slowly, stirding constantly until mixture begins to thicken, add cheese. Cook until mixture is thickened and cheese is melted. Serve with toast. Yield: 1 generous serving.

QUICK BEEF STEW

1 lb. ground beef, 2 tablespoons fat, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup tomato juice, 1 cup diced cooked vegetables (or 1 cup condensed vegetable soup), salt and pepper to taste.

Brown meat in hot fat, add flour and brown slightly. Add remaining ingredients and cook 15 minutes, stirring constantly. Serve on split hot biscuits or toast points. Yield: six servings.

This will keep in the refrigerator and will be sufficient for several meals.

Clubs and Societies

A special meeting of the Victoria Chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia will be held at the Nurses' Home, Royal Jubilee Hospital tonight at 8 o'clock.

Council May Extend Nanaimo Boundary

NANAIMO, July 14. — The Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce received assurance from Ald. R. T. Wilson that a committee from the City Council will meet a Chamber of Commerce group to go into the matter of proposed extension of city boundaries in the near future.

Discussion was held on increases proposed by the B. C. Telephone Company. Fred Robinson, president, reported receipt of a brief from the company, dealing in detail with its application.

A special committee will study the brief and report back to a meeting before the Chamber of Commerce makes a decision on the proposal.

One member thought Nanaimo with antiquated telephones could not be expected to pay the same rates as Duncan, which had more modern equipment. He claimed there was no justification to raise rates where the system was worse than it was ten years ago. Departure Bay was used as an instance. It was claimed there were eight telephones on one line, and no chance of getting a single line there. Such things required checking before the proposed increased rates were permitted to go through, the member claimed.

Set Plebiscite At Courtenay

COURTENAY, July 14.—A plebiscite on the Courtenay School District, No. 71, $1,250,000 building program will be taken in September. Slated for the end of July, the vote was deferred by the School Board because of short teacher [illegible] calities."

Meanwhile, the board's campaign to explain the program to district ratepayers continues with meetings at various centres in the district. At Cumberland, School Inspector H. D. Stafford showed films on sex education for students, after which board members explained their building program. Suggestions from the floor included a request that suitable quarters be provided for all teachers in the district, and that the proposed consolidated high school be built at a point half-way between Courtenay and Cumberland.

The later idea is not practical since the School Board has already purchased a site at Courtenay for the proposed school.

Water System Job Proceeds

CAMPBELL RIVER, July 14. — Oscar Thulin, chairman of the waterworks committee, reported at a meeting of the Campbell River Village Commission that progress was being made on the new system, and the pipeline would reach the village boundary within a few days. He said material to make covers for shut-off taps had been donated by Imperial Oil, Ltd.

Campbell River Kinsmen Club was granted permission to bring a circus to the village from August 29 to 31. Proceeds will be used for club charities.

It was announced that negotiations with L. E. Smith, district engineer for the Provincial Department of Public Works, had been completed for construction of a culvert under the highway from the foot of Eighth Street to the waterfront. The department will supply the material, and the village commission will furnish labor.

First reading was given to a by-law for the control of milk distribution.

Oyster Groups Plan Meeting

LADYSMITH, July 14.—Oyster growers from all points in the province will meet in the Plaza Hotel, Nanaimo, at 2 p.m. Saturday to discuss formation of a British Columbia association of oyster growers. A preliminary meeting was held earlier this year at the oyster house of Walter Jones, Ladysmith. New Government shellfish regulations will be debated. Secretary of the Island group is E. Timothy of the Timothy Oyster Co., Ladysmith.

Final Results

COURTENAY, July 14. — Final provincial election figures for Comox riding showed that H. J. Welch, Coalition, received 7,596 votes, and Colin Cameron, C.C.F., 5,238 votes.

Weather Forecasts

West Coast of Vancouver Island—Clear in morning, becoming cloudy in afternoon. Little change in temperature. Winds light.

East Coast of Vancouver Island—Clear and warm. Winds light.

City to Quell Dust Problem

LADYSMITH, July 14. — The city council lacked a quorum Wednesday evening. There was no official business transacted. Holidays and business engagements cut attendance down to the mayor, city clerk and two aldermen for the first time this year, which brought forth the suggestion that possibly one meeting would suffice during August.

The public works department has completed a concrete curb on Gatacre Street, below First Avenue, to strengthen and widen the north sidewalk. Extensive grading has also been carried out on the street proper. Similar treatment is planned for Roberts Street, below First Avenue.

Reconstruction of the Cenotaph at the new position, opposite the Post Office on Esplanade Street, is under way. The new concrete base has an area of 14 by 14 feet.

A dust-laying program will be carried out this Summer. Main thoroughfares will be treated first. The current dry spell has aggravated the dust problem. Two benches have been erected for the use of senior citizens.

Truancy Cases Concern Board

NANAIMO, July 14.—Truancy can cost money. Nanaimo and District Board of School Trustees gave this warning in dealing with reports of two unsatisfactory attendance cases in the district.

The board said unsatisfactory attendance can lead to withdrawal of family allowances involving the truant pupils.

The board decided to ask school principals to make reports each month on pupils having unsatisfactory attendance records.

Improve Several Roads

COURTENAY, July 14. — Hope that an early start will be made by the General Construction Company on the Island Highway Sandwick Corner cut-off was expressed by H. G. Ransom, general foreman for the Provincial Department of Public Works at Courtenay.

Mr. Ransom said company engineers were setting pegs over the planned route, which will leave the present highway near the north-east corner of Lewis Park, cut across the lower end of the V.L.A. subdivision, and proceed up Mission Hill.

Progress on re-routing and rebuilding of the Sayward Road was was noted by the foreman, who said eight bridges above Roberts Lake were being eliminated, and that Roberts Hill was being by-passed.

The 14-mile Island Highway stretch between Bowser and Qualicum would be completed in about two months, he said.

At Courtenay, the department has undertaken to install a new drain on Cliffe Avenue between Fifth and Sixth Streets. Excavation work is under way, and crews are removing old cribbing and a small bridge. A small creek ran through the site originally, and after the area was filled, the road surface at the sides kept sinking slowly. Sides of the road will be raised, and catch basins will be installed.

Truck Mishap Leads to Jail

NANAIMO, July 14. — Carl Dous, a Qualicum stevedore, was sentenced to serve two weeks in jail and was prohibited from driving anywhere in Canada for one year.

Dous pleaded guilty. Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts read a police report to Dous that he had crossed over the highway to a side ditch. His truck struck an embankment and turned over three times.

A passenger in Dous' truck received medical attention for an arm injury. Dous escaped injury. The accident occurred soon after he had passed a car driven by Levi Dendoff, Qualicum Beach.

Takes Services

GANGES, July 14.—During the absence of Ven. G. H. Holmes at Ottawa, Canon A. E. Greenhalgh, formerly rector of St. Martin's-in-the-Field Church, Victoria, will take the services at Salt Spring Island Anglican Churches on July 17 and 24.

Parents Lodge Protest Against Swing System

NANAIMO, July 14. — Nanaimo and district school trustees granted leave of absence to Roy Thornstensen, one of two teachers chosen in British Columbia to take a course in mental health at a Toronto university at the expense of the Provincial Government. Mr. Thornstensen will return to his position here at the end of a year's leave.

A petition signed by 59 residents of Brechin District protested against the swing system being used in the school there. The petition stated one class had a swing system last year, and it was understood four classes would adopt the arrangement in the Autumn.

Trustee Dr. J. Hart thought the swing system was misunderstood. He said it caused no hardship at Brechin last term because it was operated on a small scale. There was no alternative, since a by-law that would have provided more school accommodation had been defeated.

MAY HAVE TRAINING

Some economics and technical training for 200 Grade VII students may be provided by building a room on the Thomas Hodgson School grounds, or by using half a hut at Camp Nanaimo. The new room proposed is estimated to cost $2,500. Using the Camp Nanaimo hut would mean additional expense for transportation. The school board indicated a by-law would be placed before ratepayers in the near future for permanent and school accommodation needed.

Trustees agreed they needed a name for the new middle ward primary school expected to be ready for the Autumn term. There will also be a [illegible] for the new school.

The Board will make an effort to find culprits who threw a school bus shelter into a Cedar District yard, with a view to making a test case of vandalism. South Wellington School fence was reported damaged by high school students using the grounds after school hours.

Slay Teredoes At Ladysmith

LADYSMITH, July 14.—Blasting operations were carried out at the Shelly Logging Company booming grounds on the waterfront here to destroy teredoes attacking the piles and endangering the booms. Work was done while tide was low so as not to endanger fish life in the harbor. Numerous small surface charges were set off. According to company officials, the blasting is a precautionary measure carried out at intervals.

Opens Building For Research

LADYSMITH, July 14. — Dr. D. B. Quayle is in charge of the biological laboratory opened here recently by the Provincial Department of Fisheries to provide operational research service to the British Columbia shellfish industry. Hon. Leslie H. Eyres, Minister of Fisheries, explained that the specialized nature of the work of the laboratory would provide an opportunity for better consideration of problems arising in the shellfish industry.

Until moving to Ladysmith, Dr. Quayle conducted shellfish research in a small laboratory in the Provincial Department of Fisheries office at Victoria. The new laboratory is situated at Kent's Beach, Diamond district, one mile north of the city.

Dr. Quayle is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Quayle of Ladysmith. He is a graduate of Ladysmith High School and the University of British Columbia, and was formerly on the staff of the Departure Bay Biological Station. He received his degree at the University of Glasgow last year after two years' postgraduate work.

French Line Reopening Coast Links

Marine News

Commencing with the motorship Wyoming, now en route to Vancouver, the French Line is placing in the Pacific Coast-European service to and from Havre, Antwerp and Rotterdam, four new motorships with a speed of 17 knots.

Announcement of the new service was made yesterday through offices of Empire Shipping Co. Ltd., Vancouver, agents for the French Line.

The second ship is the Ms. Washington, scheduled to leave Havre about July 26 with cargo for ports of the Pacific, including Vancouver. She will be followed by the new Ms. Winnipeg. The fourth vessel has not been named to date.

Having lost their faster ships during the war, the French Line has to operate slower Liberty-type ships up to the present time, but entrance will provide exporters and importers with excellent running time to and from the Continent.

ONTARIO SAILS

Senior warship of the Royal Canadian Navy's Pacific Fleet, the cruiser H.M.C.S. Ontario, nosed out of Esquimalt harbor yesterday morning for training exercises in northern waters of British Columbia. It marked her first trip under the command of Capt. H. M. Pullen, who assumed the post this week. The ship will pay "courtesy visits" to several Alaska ports.

On board are a number of new entry seamen and naval reserve personnel. It is expected the cruiser will be open to the public at many of the ports to be visited. Between August 5 and 8 the ship will be at Prince Rupert, and toward the latter part of the cruise she will be exercising with the destroyers Athabaskan and Crescent.

SLOW SEASON

In one of the slowest commercial salmon fishing seasons for the past several years, British Columbia's pack of this species totals only 45,087 cases to date, according to a report from the chief supervisor of fisheries.

The total pack covers commercial fishing districts Nos. 1, 2 and 3. The pack at the corresponding period last year was 77,174 cases.

The current report, broken down, reads as follows: Sockeye, 26,641 cases; springs, 1,313 cases; steelheads, 279 cases; bluebacks, 2,084 cases; coho, 13,043 cases; pinks, 111 cases, and chums, 916 cases. Each case represents 48 pounds.

NOTICE TO MARINERS

T. E. Morrison, local agent for the Department of Transport, yesterday advised mariners that firing practice will be carried out by the Royal Canadian Navy between 2 and 3 p.m. tomorrow within an area enclosed between the following positions: Lat. 48 degrees, 22' N., Long. 123 degrees, 23' W.; Lat. 48 degrees, 24' N., Long. 123 degrees, 15' W.; Lat. 48 degrees, 17' N., Long. 123 degrees, 14' W.; Lat. 48 degrees, 15' N., Long. 123 degrees, 23' W.

Mariners are asked to proceed with caution through this area while firing practice is in progress.

SHIP ABANDONED

The Greek Liberty freighter Ioannis G. Kulukundis, hard aground and breaking up on a sandbar 140 miles northwest of Los Angeles, Calif., has been abandoned by her owners to her cargo underwriters. The vessel left Vancouver last week.

The 422-foot vessel, with 9,000 tons of bulk and sacked wheat aboard, has "broken her back" under constant pounding of waves and is leaking badly. She struck the sandbar Sunday in a heavy fog off Point Arguello in the "graveyard of the Pacific."

Her skipper, Capt. G. Mastrominas, three other officers and one seaman remain aboard. Vessels of her type are valued at $500,000 and her cargo is worth $630,000.

NANAIMO BOAT WINS

George H. Patton's cruiser Alleen, racing under the colors of the Nanaimo Yacht Club, early Thursday won the second leg of the 1949 capital to capital international cruiser race.

This leg, from Nanaimo to Prince Rupert, was the second of three races which will constitute the 1,000-mile, three-race Olympia to Juneau run.

Boats leave Prince Rupert today on the third and final race to Juneau.

The Alleen's error percentage was only 1.4449.

NOTTINGHAM, England (CP). — Sherwood Forest, haunt of 12th Century outlaw Robin Hood, still is littered with thousands of boxes of live ammunition left there since the war. Skull-and-crossbones notices throughout the area warn: "Curiosity can kill you."

Skipper Minus Ship

Sea dog without ship is 68-year-old Capt. Archie Croft of Brooklyn, Queens County, N.S.—skipper of last wind-driven tern schooner under Canadian registry. Now he's looking for new job. His last ship, Frederick P. Elkin, is headed for scrap heap in Barbadoes. Capt. Croft, shown above convalescing after operation in Halifax, has been sailing in wind ships since he was 13. Steam and Diesel ships have practically pushed three-masters off seas.

Saanich Police Rap Speeders; 16 Drivers Pay $240 in Fines

Saanich police cracked down on speeders last week, passing out 16 tickets that added $240 to municipal coffers. The total traffic take in Saanich police court yesterday was $330, all for traffic fines.

John W. Casson, motorcyclist, Prince Robert House, was fined $20 for careless driving on the Gorge Road July 8.

Constables Robert Coleman and J. Burnett said Casson followed within three feet of a car at 40 miles an hour, steered with his hands on his windshield and spoke to girls in the back of the car.

TWO REMANDED

Cassop told Magistrate H. C. Hall he had never exceeded 50 miles an hour because he was breaking in a new engine and added he always steered with his hands in the position the officers described.

Russell Lloyd Brown, 3840 Rowland Avenue, was remanded for a month to await the return of a witness in his wanton driving preliminary hearing. The witness is now in Ontario.

Brown was charged May 28 after an accident at the intersection of Shelbourne Street and Kenmore Road in which five-year-old Leonard Orricco, Shelbourne Street, was injured.

Paul Case, Cordova Bay, was remanded until next Thursday to give him time to call two witnesses. He is charged with lighting a fire within half a mile of woods or brush without a permit.

At the Theatres

ROYAL THEATRE If it's laughter you're after—and who isn't these days—don't miss "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College," new 20th Century-Fox comedy, now in its second week at the Royal Theatre. The most screamingly funny thing to happen on the screen for years and years, it's even more hilarious than last year's "Sitting Pretty," co-starring master of mirth Clifton Webb with Shirley Temple.

ATLAS THEATRE The "Wise Old Owl" and a rambunctious clever cartoon scenes of Walt Disney's musical feature in color, "So Dear to My Heart." Bobby Driscoll, Bud Iles, Beulah Bondi, Luana Patten and Harry Carey appear in principal roles.

OAK BAY THEATRE The most arresting screen romance seen here in many a moon is "Night Song," R.K.O. production, co-starring Dana Andrews, Merle Oberon and Ethel Barrymore, and a brilliant cast, including Hoagy Carmichael, Artur Rubinstein, Eugene Ormandy and many others.

RIO THEATRE For one week only at the New Rio Theatre. On stage, the world-famous "Follies Bergere Revue," a star-studded, laugh-filled cast, including Gil Johnson, the Phelby Sisters, Jean Fuller, and starring Renee Villon, the irresistible "Peacock Girl."

Amusements

ON THE STAGE

Rio—"Follies Bergere Revue."

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during intervening times between the high and low waters as given. 0.0 foot must be subtracted from the heights in these tables to conform with the datum of soundings on the charts of the locality.

DETROIT, July 14 (AP) — Automobile production in the United States will set an all-time record this week with assembly of 148,277 cars and trucks, Automotive News predicted.

According to Culbertson - - -

Copyright, 1949, by Ely Culbertson

Some hands, for one reason or another, present difficult bidding problems. Two experts, sitting North and South, found today's deal very troublesome.

North, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

♦ 10
♣ 8 6 4

SOUTH
♠ K 10 8 4
♥ Q
♦ A K 9 8 2
♣ 9 5 3

This is how the bidding actually developed:

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	1 ♠	2 n.t.	Pass
3 n.t.	Pass	Pass	Pass

As may be seen at a glance, the defenders had six heart tricks at the very start—but before mentioning the play, let us consider the bidding which landed North-South at such an embarrassing contract.

North's opening needs no comment.

South found himself in quite a dilemma when East overcalled the diamond with one spade. His first thought (as he explained later) was to bid three diamonds, but on examination, this call did not seem quite satisfactory. South had a good hand, but if there was duplication in the heart suit—i.e., if North had the ace or the A-K of hearts—the enemy might grab three tricks off the reel. Thus, a five-diamond contract might and might not be advisable. It was certainly unlikely, considering South's own spades, that North would be able to bid three no-trump over three diamonds, and even if he could bid three hearts, giving South reassurance about that suit, South would have to worry about clubs before he himself could risk three no-trump.

Thus, South's leap to two no-trump, though unquestionably dangerous because of his singleton heart and his weakness in clubs, was not quite as illogical as it may appear, and North's raise to three no-trump was automatic.

And now back to the play! West couldn't believe that the enemy was wide open in his own six-card suit, and opened a spade! So North-South did very well after all. The six-diamond contract they could have made was virtually unreachable.

Vancouver Stocks

VANCOUVER, July 14 (CP)—The Stock Market regained its upward trend. Oils led the way with Home up 10 at 9.80; Pacific Petroleum rose 5 to 2.60; while Okalta was unchanged at 1.53.

Bob Day's second consecutive [illegible] a [illegible] packed evening [illegible] than 5,000 fans [illegible] Victoria at Royal Athletic Park last night with Johnny Hack home ahead [illegible] killed off the visiting Vancouver Capilanos [illegible] as the A's won ahead to end a [illegible] game 12-10.

The Athletics treated Hack A's [illegible] to a [illegible] Mauro [illegible] Mauro [illegible] the game [illegible] 4-2 lead and kept Pete Appleton [illegible] of trouble.

BIG INNING FOR A'S

[illegible] Bill Rigney [illegible] Mauro [illegible] McDougald [illegible] Hack [illegible] and reached base on Ron Jones' error. Sievers [illegible] and Day [illegible] hitting.

The Caps started tossing off on Vancouver in the sixth when [illegible] after Sievers had walked. Set 8 up [illegible] the A's received two [illegible] after McDougald drove one over the fence following a walk to Mauro.

A double by Len Tran proved the [illegible] of the end for Vancouver [illegible] Charlie Mead homered and Sievers doubled. Bud Sievers [illegible] but was forced out when Charlie reached first on a fielder's choice. McLean [illegible] Manager Bob Brenner [illegible] Hedgecock was given a walk by Joe Ruckeyenkop who replaced Vancouver. Brenner was out at second when Robinson [illegible] to Wakefield. The Tran singled driving in McLean.

SKULIK IN RHUBARB

Carl Gunnarson came in to hold the A's scoreless in the seventh, eighth and ninth innings. The Caps surged ahead after McDougald had dropped a fly by Sinovic advancing Mead to second in the eighth. Steel singled scoring Mead. Gunnarson singled scoring Sinovic. A balk by McLean forced Gunnarson at second and a call which started a thorough [illegible] gave both third base coach Bob Costas and Manager Bob Brenner thrown out of the game by Umpire Max Skulik.

Len Tran belted one of Blankenship's lesser offerings out of the park in the ninth to tie up the ball game.

Johnny Hack singled to give the A's a lead in the bottom of the ninth.

Brand Upset by Parker In City Tennis Tourney

Things began to pop in the city tennis championships at Victoria Lawn Tennis Club [illegible] A great size gathered [illegible] a peculiar assortment of [illegible] which is making [illegible] difficult to pick [illegible] winners especially in the men's singles event.

With half a dozen players in the tourney all capable of winning the championship some interesting matches have resulted. Latest player to keep the [illegible] a complete [illegible] was eighth-seeded Jack Parker who [illegible] the biggest upset by upsetting top seeded Carl Brand out of the tournament in sets 6-0, 3-6, 6-4.

Parker literally caught fire against Brand and his first set play was clever. Brand famous for his ability to adjust to adverse conditions fought back to win the second set and had [illegible] up 4-2 and in the third. At this point Parker again had an [illegible] streak and hitting corners and lines with monotonous regularity he reeled off four consecutive games for the match.

The other final set in this event will be decided tonight when Dave Williams faces third-seeded Ron Mitchell.

The rest of the fireworks came in the men's doubles. Parker and Bill Dunbar recent winners of the Victoria Club championship fell before Williams and Peter Peacock in straight sets 8-6, 6-4. Ed. W. Nagle and Peacock. It was sweet revenge for the defeat at the hands of the former pair two weeks ago.

GREAT RALLY

Meanwhile top seeded Carl Brand and Jim McArthur were at loggerheads out of the tourney against Bob Vernon Horne and John McPherson. Dropping the first set 6-4 the favorites wasted opportunities in the second set and eventually faced three match points against them at 5-4. [illegible] Brand [illegible] McPherson [illegible] a game [illegible] match at 8 all. McPherson [illegible] was captured [illegible] 9-8 and after a long game in which McArthur beated his partner with a hard [illegible] the match was squared at 10-10. The third set was [illegible] going to the favored duo 6-1 as the opposition tired.

Bud Hocking and Thorsten Josephson advanced to the semis with a 6-2, 6-2 win from Woodruff and Van Winter.

Foul Bay's 9-4 Victory Over Jokers Widens Gap

HOW THEY STAND

	W.	L.	GF.	GA.	Pct
Foul Bay	9	3	114	93	.750
Tillicums	5	6	92	103	.455
Jokers	3	8	87	95	.273

Next game, Tuesday: Jokers vs Tillicums.

Box lacrosse standings in the senior league became more spread out than ever last night when the leading Foul Bay team came up with a 9-4 victory over bottom-place Jokers at Stevenson Park.

The Gonzales squad held command all the way, scoring in a fast breaking attack to offset the Jokers' zone defence in the early stages and then setting a tight defence then settled to maintain their winning margin, built on a second period drive.

EARLY LEAD

Goalie Alan Thompson shut the door completely on Joker snipers in the opening stanza, while Jimmy McKeachie gave Foul Bay a 1-0 edge. Jack Thompson notched the second tally after five and a half minutes of the second session, and Bob Aitken, Tom Herbert and Dennis Thomas each added single-tons to give the district crew a five-goal advantage before Jokers could find the range.

Jokers' ace marksman, Goodie Ellis finally beat Thompson at the 11-minute mark and Teammate Larry Heath followed quickly with Jokers second tally to cut the lead to three goals at the halftime interval.

Both teams kept up the fast pace in the third frame when Jokers cracked their best. However they missed the chance to get back into contention by rounding out only one [illegible] of six attempts. Foul Bay [illegible] passes intercepted and [illegible] managed a trio of shots but a pair of them resulted in goals both by diminutive Jack Walker. Bays held a 7-3 lead at three-quarter time.

RAPID SCORING

Remainder of the scoring came quickly in the final canto. Ellis counted his second goal to increase Jokers total to four, McKeachie's second Foul Bay marker and another from Al Hilkson all within the first four minutes decided the issue.

Walker and McKeachie each with two goals and an assist, and Jack Thompson with a goal and two assists shared point getting honors for the game.

A pair of goals by Rod Wilson and one by Pat Phipps gave Cougars a 3-2 victory over Yellowjackets in a Peewee League game [illegible] Buddy Bye [illegible] both games for Yellowjackets.

Pitchers Steal Spotlight As Majors Resume Chase

The [illegible] pitchers [illegible] as all teams returned to action, after the home run Mid-Summer game break.

Ann Ruth [illegible] of New York Yankees top pitcher in the American League stepped the way with a [illegible] 5-0 shutout over St. Louis Browns as the Yankees protected their [illegible] lead over Cleveland Indians. He allowed only ten batters. Team Joe DiMaggio and Gene Woodling drove in two runs apiece.

The Indians stretched their second place margin over Philadelphia Athletics to two and a half games with a 1-0 triumph over the Washington Senators. Bob Lemonds gilt-edged [illegible] pitching chore. Rookie Sportsman Ray Boone and Centre Fielder Larry Doby paced the Tribe attack with their third and 14th homers respectively.

EIGHT IN ROW

Boston Red Sox moved within half a game of the A's with a 5-2 victory over Detroit Tigers. It was the eighth straight triumph for the Boston who got an assist from the Bengals' weak defensive play and inability to hit with runners on base.

DODGERS BOOST LEAD

Brooklyn Dodgers rallied in the late innings to score a 6-5 ten-inning victory over Cincinnati Reds and increased their National League lead to one and a half games as the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals dropped a 1-0 decision to Philadelphia Phillies. Bill Cox's double [illegible] Mark Rackley [illegible] winning run.

Dr. Lonnie Frey threw [illegible] Bert saved the game for the Phillies and [illegible] the [illegible] run [illegible] up a [illegible] game [illegible] Ted Wilks, Kenny Heintzelman and Max Lanier who [illegible] made for St. Louis [illegible] for the first time since being [illegible] to Commissioner Happy Chandler.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

Before the hands reach the position pictured the hip pivot starts with a pressure from the inside of the left foot and an [illegible] lifting of the left heel. As the left hip goes back the left hip rotates forward but at an almost horizontal plane. In other words the left hip dips down very very little. The hip action takes place at almost a four power. When the backswing is completed the hips have rotated about 45 degrees that is one-eighth of a circle. During the same time the shoulders are pivoting twice the distance, they make a quarter or 90 degree turn. The shoulder pivot is made in a somewhat more vertical plane than the hip pivot. That is to say the left shoulder rotates down and under the chin while the right shoulder rotates up and back. Complete rotation or pivot of the shoulders will have occurred when the back of the player's shoulders "faces" the green. If you use too much hip pivot it is difficult to avoid too much shoulder pivot. But this is a fault only of youth and suppleness. It won't worry golfers over 25 very much. The pivot of older players is apt to be rather too little both in the hips and shoulders, than too much.

CHARLES SIGNS

Ezzard Charles has signed with the International Boxing Club to defend his N.B.A. world's heavyweight championship August 1 in New York.

Charles inked his contract at Madison Square Garden Wednesday. His opponent for the fight, Gus Lesnevich, agreed to terms last week.

Recall Warren To Replace Sammy White

SEATTLE, July 14 (AP) — The Seattle Rainiers arranged yesterday for quick shipment of Sammy White, prize $75,000 rookie catcher bought by Boston Red Sox from a Boston farm club and got Pitcher Solomon (Hank) Coleman from Louisville of the American Association.

Coleman comes here to replace left hander Jack McCall, who was returned to the Boston after losing five straight games for the Rainiers.

Catcher Jack Warren was recalled from Tacoma of the Western International League where he has been starring for the Tigers on a 24-hour option.

The Red Sox called up White immediately so he could be placed in a lower class of ball and play more frequently, possibly with Roanoke of the Piedmont League, a class B circuit, clubhouse circles said.

Coleman won four and lost seven with Louisville last year.

KINER INJURED

Outfielder Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, is having an injured wrist checked by physicians. Although he belted a long home-run in Tuesday's All-Star game, Kiner says his wrist has been swollen and sore for several days.

Sproule Guards Strategy For Davis Cup Matches

MONTREAL, July 14 (CP) — The three-man Davis Cup tennis team from Australia confident of taking Canada's 11 pennants in stride went to the Montreal Royal Tennis Club today to look over the lawns for next week's North American Zone cup tie.

The Aussies arrived on an early-morning train from New York. Only ambidextrous Jack Bromwich and Frank Sedgman worked out. They went through an hour-and-a-half drill. Billy Sidwell sat it out.

ALL IN GOOD SHAPE

Team Manager Cliff Sproule reported his charges in good shape although "a little tired."

"The boys will have a good two-hour workout tomorrow," promised Sproule.

Sproule kept to himself his plans for shuffling his three-man squad. He said his singles and doubles players would not be named until 48 hours before the matches.

But it was believed Bromwich and Sidwell will be named for the singles assignments and Bromwich and Sedgeman for the doubles.

Sproule looked upon the team's North American visit, "especially in the cup final against the United States" as a dollar-earning campaign for Australia, a sterling-area country.

ONLY THREE PLAYERS

Only three players were brought along instead of the four allowed under Davis Cup rules. It was strictly a matter of economy and helping Australia's dollar shortage, said Sproule, but he admitted that dollars accrued in the team's North American efforts will just about disappear in traveling expenses.

Next game, tonight: Brentwood Aces vs. Bluebird Cabs, Upper Central, 6:45 p.m.

Toy Mar's single with the bases loaded in the bottom of the tenth gave Chinese Students a hard-earned 9-8 triumph over Timber Service in a Senior A Men's Softball League game at Upper Central last night.

Victory strengthened Student's hold on the fourth play-off berth, leaving them two and a half games in front of Bluebird Cabs with four games remaining on the schedule.

SOURCE OF TROUBLE

Mar was a source of trouble to Timbermen throughout the game, reaching first five consecutive times on walks before delivering his game-winning blow.

Loggers took the lead in the second on Jack Battle's home run and boosted the margin to 3-0 in the fourth. Tom Derr put Students back in the game with a two-run homer in the fifth and the Chinese deadlocked the count at 4-4 in the sixth when they shelled Earl King from the mound.

Two gift runs in the seventh put Students in front, 6-4, but Bernie Clarkson forced the game into extra innings when he hammered a two-run homer for Timbermen in the eighth to square the count again.

An error and singles by Battle and Ray Hough gave Loggers a two-run lead in the top of the tenth. Students filled the bases on a pair of walks and a Reider's choice in the bottom half of the inning and Jimmy John singled home the tying runs. Quinton Mar drew a walk to fill the bases again and Toy Mar lined the first pitch over second to drive in the winning run.

Gordon Head Body Tells Of Conditions at Camp

The newly-formed Gordon Head Camp Better Housing Committee decided last night to forward a letter to Saanich councillors to acquaint them with conditions in the camp.

The letter will be a follow-up of the one sent last week to the council asking them to review the offer of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to build low-priced houses in Saanich.

To date the committee has not received any answer to their letter from the Saanich Council.

The committee represents the veterans and their families in the camp who wish to leave, and does not represent the camp as a whole.

London Market

LONDON, July 14 (Reuters).—The Stock Exchange was quiet with operators awaiting developments in the London dock strike. The technical position in the market, along with some provisional support, helped keep industrial prices firm.

Control Flames Near Chemainus

CHEMAINUS, July 14. — The Chemainus Volunteer Fire Department, assisted by a bulldozer, controlled a bush and slash fire between River Road and the town dump road, last night.

Answering a call at 8:30 p.m. the department made several trips to a hydrant to replenish its 90-gallon tank. The bulldozer threw a fire guard around the one-third area.

The area is adjacent to green timber and it is believed here that heavy damage would have been caused if the fire had gained much headway. Firemen placed an all-night guard to prevent an outbreak.

Princess Can-Cans At Party

LONDON, July 15 (Friday) (INS).—Highly agog London society learned today the man who taught Princess Margaret that she certainly can can-can was Comedian Danny Kaye.

The London Daily Express said that before he left Britain the American comedian educated the Princess in the high-stepping dance in which she rocked the American Embassy Monday night.

The second daughter of King George VI kept her new accomplishment a secret until she and Sharman Douglas, daughter of the U.S. Ambassador, trouped out in frilly black clothes and did the bouncy can-can.

ADDED STARTER

They were an added starter to the regular party given in honor of Sharman, Margaret's closest friend, at the embassy.

Friends of the two girls said that Kaye, who left the country before seeing his Royal pupil perform, had a noble side to continue his work after he was gone.

He is said to be none other than the Marquess of Blandford, heir to the Duke of Marlborough and a frequent escort of both girls.

London society leaders said frankly that Margaret has given the social season its biggest talking point yet. There was no comment from King George on the supplementary "American aid" contributed by comedian Kaye.

Release Easter From Hospital

CLEVELAND, July 14 (AP).—Luke Easter, slugging first baseman for the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League, was released from a hospital today following surgery for a chipped knee cap.

He said he had just started to walk on the injured leg and did not know when he would rejoin the Padres, a farm club of the Cleveland Indians.

Easter spent 11 days in the hospital. He is expected to be able to play again in about four or five weeks.

Bar Trainer

VANCOUVER, July 14 (CP). — A race horse trainer at Exhibition Park has been suspended for 30 days for violating pari-mutuel rules.

The Track Board of Stewards announced that Rosa J. Iaci had been denied all privileges of the track, but did not disclose details of the violation.

Speedy Irish Mile

DUBLIN, July 14 (AP).—Ireland has come up with a crack mile runner.

John Joe Barry, carrying the colors of the green against members of a touring United States team, was clocked in a blazing 4:09.4 mile performance yesterday. He beat John Twomey of Chicago by 15 yards.

POSTPONES APPEARANCE

Jackie Robinson, star second baseman of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has postponed his appearance before the House Un-American Activities Committee to testify on the loyalty of American negroes.

Robinson said personal business forced him to postpone his appearance in Washington until next week.

CLASSIC RATED WORST

Most baseball followers seem willing and anxious to forget Tuesday's All-Star contest just as quickly as possible. Post-mortems characterize the game, won by the American League, 11 to 7, as the worst in All-Star history.

Blasts Charges

TOKIO, July 15, Friday (INS). — Gen. Douglas MacArthur today lambasted as "fantastically untrue" Russian charges that he uses oppressive tactics against Japanese labor.

The Supreme Occupation Chief said that the accusations stem "from Soviet frustration in its nefarious plot to absorb Japan into the Soviet orbit of influence."

SIX CENTURIES OLD

Britain's noble Order of the Garter was founded in 1348.

Canadian Team Will Wear Natty Uniform

TORONTO, July 14 (CP). — Canada's Olympic athletes last year were about the nattiest-dressed of the 62-nation show with their blue blazers, flannels (the girls were issued white pleated skirts) and red, white and blue berets.

But that's nothing compared to the uniform designed for the Dominion British Empire Games competitors going to New Zealand.

Jack Davies of Montreal, honorary secretary of Canada's British Empire Games Association, held a private showing for the Canadian Press today. He came up with:

The same uniform (blazers and flannels) but this time the tie is: blue (for lakes), white (for snow), green (for forest) and red (for the Maple Leaf). The red and white Olympic "Canada" crest also has been slicked up with the additional blue and green colors.

To top it all, the athletes—men and women—will wear panama hats with the outside band dressed-up in blue, white, green and red colors.

Another addition is a lapel crest, in the shape of a Maple Leaf, and in you-know-what colors.

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

Nearly every All-Star baseball game, like every world series, has its big moment of drama and excitement— something the spectators remember and discuss for years . . . The 1949 All-Star game had its big moments, too, but they were high comedy instead of drama . . . But what else could you expect in Brooklyn? . . . There was Johnny Mize failing to come up with Eddie Kazak's low throw in the first inning, a play that meant four runs . . . and the inevitable comment: "Of course the error is on Kazak! they decided its unfair to make Mize bend over." . . . There was Willard Marshall playing tag with the ball by the centre field wall for the fourth error that tied the All-Star game record; he just couldn't find the handle on it. And Roy Campanella had the same sort of trouble for error No. 5 . . . when the starting lineup was changed to put Gil Hodges on first and Campanella behind the plate, it made five Dodgers in the lineup—Don Newcombe, Peewee Reese and Jackie Robinson were the others. It was the "Brooklyn against the world" game all over again.

FLATBUSH FOLLIES

Hugh Casey, entering the press box just before Eddie Joost's freak hit ruined a good pitching performance by Don Newcombe, commented: "From what I've seen, that guy is the best pitcher on the field." . . . and when Ted Williams made that one-hand stab of Newcombe's long drive, nearly everyone gasped: "They say he can't field."

DOTS ALL, BROTHERS

Belated report from the Gavilan-Robinson fight in Philadelphia says it would have done even better at the gate if policing and the box-office men had been more efficient. One $5 ticket seller closed his window while hundreds of customers were in line because "I have to get my cash counted and leave by 11 o'clock."

Testify Seamen Issued Guns

MONTREAL, July 14 (CP). — Testimony that officers of the Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.) issued sawed-off shotguns and tire chains to seamen travelling from Montreal to Halifax was heard in court here today.

The testimony was given during preliminary hearing of Hal C. Banks, S.I.U. International representative in Canada, and four minor officials of the union, all of whom face charges of illegal possession of offensive weapons dangerous to the public peace.

Execution Stay Denied Jake Bird

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP). — Justice Black of the Supreme Court refused today to grant a stay of execution, to Jake Bird, convicted slayer scheduled to be hanged in the State of Washington.

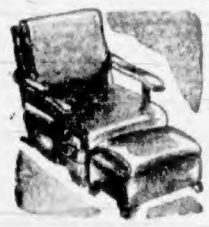
Flower Fantasy

I spent last nite just watering the garden—now if this bores you I beg your pardon. When I came to the sweet peas I stopped to think, while the soft sweet petals had a drink. Just watching them grow took me back a long way—all the way back day before yesterday. That was the day I saw someone fair—add beauty to flowers—just near her hair. I listened to the talk of the roses red and to the chrysanthemum nodding its head—as though in agreement with what was said, and also the pansy from its earthy bed. You'll be more comfortable than in bed, in this cogswell and stool with a rest for your head.



69.00

Their talk was all about their fate—how they would end up small or great. The begonias were speaking and bemoaning their lot. "We'll end up in a flower show hot, this Friday nite in the National Motors lot—with people walking round comparing our blooms, to see how we'd look set up in their rooms. "Over in the corner a late daffodil, was sure of the niche that she would fulfill—"I'll just wither here on my stock, I'll only last once more round the clock." The snapdragons snapped out a snappy remark, as they looked around in the growing dark. You could look around till you were blue, and never get a frilite like this brand new, for the single price us famous made—complete with 3 candles, blub and shade.

The sweet peas nodded and didn't say much, as the wind caressed with a gentle touch. But one did say in a soft small voice—"I know where I'd go if I had my choice—to live with a lady quite near the sea—who wouldn't throw away this little sweet pea—cause I'd be given to her by a man she knew, and I'd be one of the chosen favored few. Who aren't thrown out when their beauty's gone, but kept between pages to be remembered on.

"Then I'd be happy as I lay
'Tween the pages of a book
Where I can rest all day
And she can sometimes look."

Desert Love Song

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

As she stepped from the elevator she saw the man who had been watching her several nights before. He looked taller and thinner than ever in his Western riding clothes, but it was his eyes which fascinated her. They were such calm, far-seeing eyes, grey and clear, in his lean, tanned face. Margie suspected he [illegible] her letter in the mail box and stopped to answer the greeting of the hotel manager. She did not see the flicker of determination in his eyes as he deliberately walked across the hotel lobby to join them.

CHAPTER IX

The hotel manager dressed for the part as conscientiously as an actor, in brightly-colored shirt, big hat and the fancy high-heeled boots traditional for work or sport in Arizona, greeted the other man heartily. When he stopped instead of passing by, the manager smiled and murmured, "Miss Wainwright, may I present one of our most prominent citizens, Mr. Philip Vance?"

Margie said, amused, "I was beginning to think there weren't any. I mean so far I've met only tourists like myself."

The tall man, no longer a stranger, replied, "That is unfortunate. You can never know the desert that way."

"Mr. Vance is a rancher," the manager explained. "His mother is one of our celebrities. Used to be a newspaper woman."

"Is a newspaper woman," Philip corrected. "She still writes articles for an eastern syndicate, although she isn't well enough to do so regularly."

Having performed his duty as a host, the hotel manager tactfully withdrew as the other man continued, "My mother is Blanche Tait. You may have heard of her."

Margie hadn't, but, too kind to say so, she nodded.

"She has arthritis," he added. "But she enjoys meeting interesting people. I thought you might be good enough to call on her some afternoon."

"I'd love it," Margie said. "Only I don't consider myself very interesting. I'm just here with my father."

A smile crossed his lean, attractive face. "Yes," he said. "I've seen you several times. I guess you may have noticed me looking at you. My mother will like you."

He spoke with such assurance that Margie said, "So that's why you wanted to meet me? To introduce me to your mother?"

"Could there be a better reason?" he asked seriously.

Suddenly Margie felt a sense of freedom as if the burden she had been carrying for weeks was being lifted from her shoulders. She cried gaily, "It will be a pleasure, Mr. Vance. When [illegible] where does your mother live?"

"She lives with me on our ranch, about fifteen miles from town. I can call for you tomorrow afternoon."

He certainly wasn't losing any time, but Margie was pleased that he wanted her to meet the mother he obviously adored. Returning to her own room she glanced through the connecting door to see if her father was awake. He was already up. She could hear him splashing in his tub. The bed was strewn with newspapers, old copies of Chicago dailies purchased at a newsstand. A crystal tray was loaded with cigarette ashes, although he was not supposed to smoke. Margie emptied it, thinking, "Poor darling. It has been tough to have everything taken from him that he really enjoys."

"That you, Margie?" he called from the bathroom.

He sounded cheerful, as if he had decided to ignore their argument, which was well, because then she could ignore it, too.

"I thought you might like to play a game of chess before dinner," she answered.

"I won't have time, my pet. Helene called from the beauty shop to suggest that we drive to Nogales. It seems there is a wonderful place to eat down there on the Mexican side."

"But, Maxwell, that's so far. Are you planning to take my car?"

"If you don't object," he said, knowing she couldn't since he had bought it for her.

"I don't suppose you want me to drive it for you?" she asked half-heartedly.

"Well, no, my dear. Helene will take over if I get tired. You see it is rather awkward for the three of us. We like to dance, and it seems rude to leave you sitting at the table alone, particularly in Mexico."

"You needn't explain, darling! I understand. The truth is Helene doesn't want me."

"Not at all. Helene is very fond of you. If Barry were here, or if we knew another man to make it a foursome, we'd be delighted to take you."

"Just wait," she threatened, good-naturedly. "If I ever have a man of my own I shan't have anything to do with either of you."

He looked relieved as she closed the door into her room so that he might dress undisturbed. He did not suspect that she had already made an engagement for the next day, and, what was more, she did not intend to tell him.

CHAPTER X

It was late that night when Mr. Wainwright softly closed the door to his room, but the next morning he came to breakfast looking no worse for the long drive to Nogales. Perhaps he was right, Margie thought. Perhaps the doctor in Chicago had alarmed him unduly. Knowing her father's temperament he might have cautioned him to avoid fatigue and exercise, not expecting him to do so. It was cold that day, and Margie was secretly elated to realize that she had something to look forward to. She had decided to say nothing about her visit to the ranch until it was over.

Maxwell was in a mellow mood, reminding his daughter of the days in Chicago when their companionship had been more pleasant. He told her that Nogales was too near the border to be as foreign as he had hoped. The shops were filled with junk for sale at exorbitant prices but the cafe where they had dined was the finest he had seen in this area. The food was delicious and the atmosphere authentic. They must go again after Barry arrived. By the way, when did she expect him? On Christmas Eve, Margie replied. It seemed like ages, but it was only two weeks.

MATTERS ARE NOT SO BAD AS LIGHTFOOT FEARS

When things seem bad, so very bad
That worse they could not be,
Hold fast to hope, cling hard to faith,
That some way out you'll see.

Poor Lightfoot the Deer, wounded and alone in a thicket in the Green Forest, had given up all hope before Peter Rabbit arrived. He was weak, faint, and in great pain from the wounds which had been made by the terrible gun of a hunter, early that morning. All day he had suffered there alone and he had felt sure that never again would he lightly bound through the Green Forest or proudly hold his handsome head high as he had done in the past. He was thirsty, so terribly thirsty that at times he almost forgot the pain of his wounds. Yet he hadn't the strength to get up and go to the Laughing Brook. Even if he had had he wouldn' have dared to because of the danger that the hunter who had shot him might be lurking near.

Then in the early evening had come Peter Rabbit and found him there. Of course there was nothing that Peter could do to ease the pain or to help Lightfoot to get water. Nevertheless Peter did help. He didn't know it, but he did. It always helps to have a friend near, a friend full of sympathy. Somehow after a little Lightfoot did not feel quite so hopeless. It did him good to talk, and it did him good to have Peter talk to him.

"Don't say that you are afraid you'll never leave here alive," begged Peter. "I know you are dreadfully hurt, but perhaps things are not so bad as they seem. I ate something in Farmer Brown's garden once that made me so sick I thought I should die, but I didn't."

"I would give anything in the world for a drink," panted Lightfoot.

Peter, you remember, once ate a lot of young plants which had been sprayed with poison to kill worms and bugs.

"You can't get well if you don't try to, you know," he added.

"I would give anything in the world for a drink," panted Lightfoot. "But even if I could I wouldn't dare try to get one. That hunter with his terrible gun may be watching at the Laughing Brook."

"Not now," declared Peter in a most decided way. "It is night now, and that hunter has gone home. Hunters with terrible guns don't hunt at night except for Booby Coon. Besides, as I told you before, there is no danger on Farmer Brown's land because he doesn't allow hunting, and you are on his land now. The Laughing Brook is only a little way from here. Don't you suppose you can try to get there? I will go to see that the way is clear if that will make you feel better."

Lightfoot was sure that he couldn't stand, let alone walk, but after Peter had urged him to try, and when he felt he couldn't stand that dreadful thirst any longer, he did try to get up. He found that though it hurt and he was very stiff all over he could stand, and after a few painful efforts he found he could walk. Peter raced ahead to make sure that all was safe. Of course, he found it was and hurried back to tell Lightfoot so.

Slowly and painfully Lightfoot hobbled over to the Laughing Brook. Oh, how good that water tasted! It seemed to him that he never had known how good water is. When he had enough he hobbled back to his hiding place. Somehow things seemed different now. He did not feel so hopeless. That drink had made a great difference, all the difference in the world.

Rapid Strides For India Seen Under Nehru

Confidence that "the new India" would make rapid progressive strides within the near future under the capable leadership of her new leader, Pandit Nehru, was expressed by Rev. Moir A. J. Waters in an address yesterday to the Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel.

With his talk—entitled "Salute to India"—based on much time spent in that country, the speaker told of its three major problems: The caste system, poverty and illiteracy.

These he described as "boulders" that had to be "blasted" before progress of any major significance could be achieved.

GREATEST HOPE

It was significant, he noted, that Christianity was playing an important role in India's present-day efforts to "blast" away her problems.

He said India's population, now standing at approximately 400,000,000, was an increase of about 85,000,000 over the past three decades. Of this total, only 12 per cent are able to read and write.

Education for the masses, he said, was among the greatest hopes in connection with a 40-year plan which has been inaugurated under the leadership of Nehru.

ABOLISHED—IN BOOKS

Speaking of the caste system in India, Mr. Waters said it had been abolished with the recent independence of that country—"but only in the books." Actual erasure of the system would take many years. The caste system, he added, provided one of the greatest handicaps to the progress of Christianity within the country.

One of the big questions in India today, he continued, was what the future held in store for the approximately 17,000,000 "outcasts" of the caste system.

MANY COWS

Mr. Waters made particular mention of large sections of India where the population regarded as a sin the taking of any life. He noted there were approximately 60 cows to every 100 persons in the country—"and that's an awful lot of cows." Practically all of them, he said, were underfed.

In one village he visited, a native held a job at a railway station where he was responsible for the brushing away of ants on the station platform . . . with extreme care being exercised in not killing or injuring any of the insects. With the natives' belief in transmigration of the soul, it was possible one of the ants may have been the returned aunt of the station master!

Rev. Waters is now the minister at Victoria's First United Church.

Dogs Taught Obedience; Owners, Understanding

—Colonist Photo.

Picture shows members of Greater Victoria Dog Obedience Training Club and their dogs at training class held recently. Advanced classes are now on their eighth lesson and many of dogs show almost human intelligence as they are put through paces. Course aims to enable owners better understand their pets, and prepare them to compete in Autumn "companion dog" obedience trials if they so wish. Shown above with their pets are W. L. Caldwell, Miss E. E. Trimmer, T. M. Jones and Rose Plant.

Announcements

Arts Centre of Greater Victoria, 823 Broughton St. Photographs by Ken McAllister, dance portraits, character studies, landscapes and semi-abstracts. Summer School students particularly invited to shows at the gallery, just up from the Royal Theatre. Hours: 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Tuesday to Saturday; Saturday evenings 7:30 to 9:30. Mrs. George Wilson will again present her noon-time musicale with recordings loaned by courtesy of Kent's Ltd. on Friday. The program, compositions by Beethoven, between 12:15 and 1:15, will provide an interesting interlude while eating lunch. Pictures may be viewed before and after the music. After Thursday tickets for the piano recital by Chas. Palmer will be available to the public as well as members. Street Reconstruction in City 'Running on Schedule'--Hunter

The city's program of street reconstruction is proceeding on schedule, Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter, chairman of the public works committee, said yesterday.

A new section of Richmond Avenue near Royal Jubilee Hospital will be open to traffic this morning. Rebuilding of Oak Bay Avenue from the Junction to the city limits was completed recently. Work is being started on the raising of sidewalks along Oak Bay Avenue.

Concrete slabs, ten feet wide and eight inches thick, were poured at bus stops to prevent the road surface from breaking up under the weight of scores of heavy buses stopping and starting at the same spot each day. The rest of the street was hard-surfaced with asphalt.

Work of widening Richardson Street, from Carnsew Street to St. Charles Street, is proceeding on schedule. May Street, from Moss Street to Memorial Crescent, is undergoing reconstruction. It is planned to carry the work along Memorial Crescent, from Fairfield Road to Dallas Road.

In the James Bay district Oswego and Montreal Streets are undergoing improvement, both from Belleville Street to Dallas Road.

The reconstruction program, planned by the public works committee early this year, calls for work on Caledonia Avenue, from Blanshard Street to Cook Street; Chatham Street, from Blanshard Street to Douglas Street; Discovery Street, from Blanshard to Government Street.

Dr. Hunter expressed hope that the city would be able to do some road work during the Winter before embarking on another major program of public works next Spring. If heavy Winter rains do not intervene, it is planned to resurface Yates Street, from Douglas to Blanshard Street, as part of the Winter schedule.

The alderman said the city's purchase of heavy construction machinery last year has permitted quick progress on the 1949 program.

Picnic Planned

More than 300 members and friends of the Peace River District Association of Victoria are expected to attend an annual picnic at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Saanichton, this Sunday.

A. J. Bergeron, assisting in plans for the event, reports buses for the basket picnic will leave the Vancouver Island Coach Lines depot that afternoon at 1:15, 2:15 and 3:15. Tea and coffee will be provided and there will be a special program of events for children.

Officials of the organization extend an invitation to all former residents of the Peace River district to attend this picnic. Anyone interested is asked to get in touch with Mr. Bergeron at Beacon 5354.

The first hat was probably a broad leaf, designed to keep off the burning rays of the sun.

B.C. Timber Production Still Lags Behind 1948

Production of timber in British Columbia this year continues to lag behind that of 1948, according to figures for April and May released by the Department of Mines and Forest Service here.

Total this far in 1949 in f.b.m. is 1,197,131,812 as compared to last year's total of 1,508,567,739.

Other figures, with 1948 cut in brackets, are 462,171 (490,152.20) cubic feet; 9,437,643 (8,730,328) lineal feet; 44,090 (45,518) cords; 193,261 (211,423) hewn ties.

Largest cut is still being made in fir with production to date this year 542,159,792 f.b.m., 8,818 cubic feet, 536,462 lineal feet, 927 cords and 9,267 hewn ties. Greater part of the fir was scaled in Vancouver district.

Production of ties, centred in Prince Rupert, Interior, and Prince George districts, employing lodgepole pine, is also running behind 1948 figures, with the record showing a major May production last year responsible for the difference.

Manufacture of hemlock and spruce is about equal this year, running second in volume to fir production. Cedar production rates fourth in the province.

May production for the province was well up in total volume over the cut in April this year.

Cottonwood production in the Vancouver, Kamloops and Nelson districts amounted to 539,549 f.b.m. with figure for the year set at 1,745,283.

FAST REPAIR JOB

Shipyard Wage Talks May Be Industry Wide

Wage negotiations between managements and employees of British Columbia shipyards may be held openly and on an industry-wide basis this year.

Officials of the Victoria Joint Shipyard Council announced last night that member unions are notifying Yarrows Ltd., and Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., that they are prepared to seek conciliation "in company with" Vancouver shipyard workers.

The move on the part of the unions follows their rejection of recent counter-proposals by the two companies, which countered demands for 25-cent-an-hour wage increases by suggesting a dollar-a-day pay cut on new ship construction.

Agreement of Victoria and Vancouver managements to the union conciliation proposal would mean that a single conciliation board might be formed to assist in all current negotiations.

Senior Labor Relations Board conciliator William Fraser was appointed a week ago to assist in negotiations over Vancouver Joint Shipyard Council demands.

However, conciliation proceedings in Vancouver are reported to be still in the initial stages.

Union demands, as well as present wages scales, are practically identical throughout British Columbia.

The 25-cent-an-hour pay boost is also being sought by Vancouver workers, together with other similar concessions regarding overtime and vacations with pay.

Linen was first manufactured in England by Flemish weavers in 1253.
